"CRISIS BILL" PASSES BRITISH LOWER HOUSE

Ruling Labor Party Pushes Measure Through Commons Despite Opposition.

By The Associated Press

LONDON, Aug. 12—The house of commons voted authorization to the Labor government today to muster the full resources of Britain, including manpower and industry, for the national recovery program.

The bill, passed 178 to 63 after an entire night of debate, specifically gave the Attlee administration extensive powers to direct the management of labor and supplies so "the whole resources of the community are available for use and are used in a manner best calculated to serve the interests of the community.

The opposition ballots came from conservative and liberal opponents who had attacked the legislation as a "dictator bill." The vote, on the third and final reading, followed nearly 18 hours of debate. The Labor party holds a majority of about two to one in the commons.

Upper House To Vote

The house of lords was to receive the bill for debate on second reading during the afternoon.

The act continued indefinitely and made applicable for the new purpose of coping with the national economic crisis the emergency powers given the government, the conservative, at the beginning of the war. The powers were renewed on a short-term basis in 1945 to cover the transitional period from war to peace.

The vote on the third and last reading of the bill was completed after the Labor majority had fended off ceaseless opposition efforts to kill or amend the legislation on the ground that it would endanger the nation's "hard-won liberties."

Fight Against Time

The debate finally resolved itself into a struggle against time, with the government fighting relentlessly to win approval of the measure before 2:30 p. m. Continuation of the debate beyond that hour would automatically have cancelled the day's business and made it impossible to get the bill through the house of lords in time to permit parliament to take a summer recess beginning tomorrow.

Winston Churchill, taking up the cudgels against Prime Minister Attlee again, charged that the government bill—extending and reinforcing wartime government powers over industry and labor—conferred virtual dictatorial powers on a cabinet whose prime minister "might be discarded" at any moment.

But the government, using its preponderant majority, beat down every challenge and only once did it accept an amendment. That was one offered by Liberty leader Clement Davies which guaranteed that the government would not use its sweeping powers under the bill for "suppression or suspension" of the press.

Government Agrees

Deputy Prime Minister Herbert Morrison agreed that the use of such powers against the press "certainly would not be justifiable in circumstances of peace."

Churchill's suggestion that Attlee might be supplanted was the first yet made on the floor of parliament.

"At any moment a convulsion might take place in the privileged, protected conclaves of the party," said Churchill, "and the present prime minister might be discarded as lacking in color or for some reason—although I thought his color was pretty red, anyway."

He blasted the government's "crisis" bill, which the Laborite leaders maintain they must have to avert economic disaster in the land, "serfdom in peacetime."

MAX PRATER'S BODY FOUND

New Bloomington Victim of Drowning Recovered from Lake Erie.

The body of Max Prater, 24, of New Bloomington was recovered at 8 a. m. today in the waters of Channel Grove, about two miles off shore from Sandy Beach.

A crew of Coast Guardsmen started the search after Prater drowned early Sunday morning while fishing in Lake Erie.

Kerney Prater of 357 Oak street, father of the victim, Arthur Plumer of Marion and Joseph Hawthorne of North State street, also in the fishing boat when it capsized in rough water, were rescued after clinging to the boat for two hours.

The four had planned to spend the weekend fishing.

Body Drifted 1,000 Feet

Officials at Sandusky said the body apparently had drifted out. It was located about 1,000 feet from where the boat overturned in Channel Grove. Depth there is estimated to be between 15 and 25 feet. The channel runs between the mainland and Port Clinton. The spot where the body was recovered is near the new state park at East Harbor.

George Poe, Ottawa county coroner, examined the body at the Marblehead Coast Guard station where it was taken, and gave the cause of death as accidental drowning.

Returned To LaRue

Boyd and Ford funeral directors of LaRue were at the Coast Guard station shortly after noon to return the victim to LaRue for funeral services.

The youth, a former member of the armed forces, is survived by his father, his mother, Mrs. Mousie Prater and 10 brothers and sisters of Ohio and Kentucky.

Prater was engaged as a carpenter in LaRue, he had come here about four months ago from Salyersville, Ky., to live with a sister, Mrs. Charles Conley.

Girl Tries To Hang Self with U. S. Flag

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 12—Police said a 16-year-old Dayton girl, an escapee from the bureau of juvenile research, tried to hang herself today with an American flag tied to the bars of a city prison detention cell.

Policewoman Edna T. Brown said Joan Flint wrapped the flag around her neck in an attempt to strangle herself but was cut down by Patrolman Bernard Shoaf.

Shoaf, said the policewoman, spotted the girl through a small window in the cell door.

The girl was reported by BJR officials to have been returned unharmed by her experience.

Joan was recaptured earlier today at a Columbus address.

Columbus Votes Today In City Post Primaries

By International News Service

COLUMBUS, Aug. 12—Columbus voters went to the polls today to select candidates for seven city offices at stake in the Nov. 4 general elections.

Chief interest centered in the mayoralty campaign where Republican incumbent James A. Rhodes was opposed by former Mayor Floyd F. Green, also a Republican, and W. Herbert Dailey, coalition Democratic candidate.

Between 50,000 and 55,000 voters were expected to indicate their preferences. Other offices at stake are four city council posts and the clerk of courts nomination. Two municipal judges are unopposed on a separate ballot.

Hughes Inquiry's End Brings Cry To "Probe the Probers"

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12—One Democratic senator called today for a senate investigation of investigations as another said the decision by a Republican-controlled committee to break off the Howard Hughes inquiry gave the G.O.P. a "political black eye."

Senator Murray (D-Mont) told a reporter he thinks the war investigating committee's two weeks of public hearings into Hughes' wartime plane contract represented "just another example of efforts to smear every witness who takes the stand."

"They didn't have anything to go on and were just depending on sensationalism," the Montana senator declared. "The same thing has been going on before a lot of other committees. The senate ought to make an investigation of these so-called investigations."

Murray declined to predict his party's course, but there were indications that the Democrats will try again next January to kill off the war investigating group, originall headed by President Truman when he was a senator.

Life Extended

The committee's life was continued until Jan. 31, 1948, by a 49 to 43 senate vote early this year.

Although Senator Ferguson (R-Mich) contended that the Hughes inquiry will go on again full blast Nov. 17, Senator Roberton (D-Va) said he thinks Ferguson's action in abruptly postponing the case yesterday hurt the Republicans politically. Ferguson is chairman of the subcommittee assigned to the Hughes case.

Senator Pepper (D-Fla) said he and Senator O'Conor (D-Md), only other sub-committee members present, merely acquiesced in Ferguson's decision to call a three month halt.

Robertson said it seemed apparent to him that the adjournment came because "the show didn't turn out as expected."

Ferguson contended he had found it impossible to continue without John W. Meyer as a witness. Meyer is the portly entertainment emissary Hughes said he hired to improve his public relations after he found that Air Corps officers generally "hated" him.

Meyer Disappears

Meyer disappeared after a committee subpoena for him expired and after Ferguson said the party-giving publicity man had agreed to remain on call. Meyer's absence, the Michigan senator contended, made it impossible to "get all of the facts" about Hughes' government contract to construct F-11 photo-reconnaissance planes.

Hughes left the hearing room only after firing a parting blast at Chairman Brewster (R-Me) of the full committee.

Hughes and Brewster had been feuding for days, but the committee officially ended their fuss by closing that aspect of the case last Friday.

Hughes penciled out a statement yesterday in which he contended the sub-committee had called off the hearings because "there was no reason for the other senators on this committee to continue his (Brewster's) battle if he was too cowardly to stay here and face the music."

Alluding to Brewster's departure from Washington last week for a Maine vacation, Hughes asserted that "as soon as Senator Brewster saw he was fighting a losing battle against public opinion he folded up and took a run-out powder."

Brewster replied from Augusta, Me., that Hughes "six times" had urged the committee to discontinue its hearings.

"It seemed to me he was crying 'enough' and throwing in the sponge," Brewster said.

Fellow Senator Accused By Committee Chairman

By The Associated Press

PORTLAND, Me., Aug. 12 — Senator Brewster (R-Me) said today that Senator Murray (D-Mont) "is trying to stop the war investigating committee again."

Commenting on Murray's statement in Washington that decision by a sub-committee of the Republican-controlled committee, of which Brewster is chairman, to break off the investigation of Howard Hughes wartime plane contracts gave the G.O.P. a "political black eye," Brewster said in a telephone interview: "That's a matter of opinion.... This is still a free country."

Murray, he added, "has been trying to stop the committee for a long time."

PEACE REIGNS AFTER WILD PICKET BATTLE

By International News Service

CLINTON, Mich., Aug. 12—Comparative calm reigned over the Clinton Machine Co. today as workers returned to their jobs without interference from UAW-CIO pickets.

The Clinton, Mich., plant yesterday was the scene of a violent free-for-all in which several persons were injured.

The battle started when Company President Donald Thomas attempted to lead a group of workers into the plant through a picket line.

The strike appeared virtually broken this morning and management officials reported about 450 of the 900 workers usually employes in the plant were back on their jobs.

A cordon of state troopers patrolled the plant area this morning and barred all persons except workers and pickets from a two block area surrounding the factory.

A company spokesman said most of the pickets on hand this morning were not plant employes, he expressed belief that workers who had not yet returned to work had been absorbed by other employment."

Yesterday's battle between workers, UAW-CIO pickets and sheriff's deputies followed a back-to-work movement started when a group of workers voted to accept the company's most recent wage proposal and return to the plant.

Some 200 workers spent last night in the plant after forcing their way through lines set up by Local 608 of the UAW-CIO workers. Union members struck July 29 for higher wages.

A dozen or more workers and pickets were hurt in yesterday's battle, including Thomas, 200-pound president, who led the flying wedge into the lines.

Five others were hurt later in isolated clashes, none seriously.

Boy Killed, Father Hurt In Fostoria Accident

By The Associated Press

FOSTORIA, O., Aug. 12—A bicycle carrying a father and his son was hit by an automobile last night and the son, Arthur Tolento, 8, was killed. Police are seeking the motorist.

The father, Serafin Tolento, 28, a Mexican agricultural worker, was injured critically.

The accident occurred on U. S. route 12, eight miles east of here.

Sunstroke Victim Listed Here As Heat Wave Continues Sway

One person was reported overcome by the heat here as the citizenry continued to swelter under the scorching rays of a midsummer sun that carried out to the letter the weatherman's forecast of hot and humid temperature throughout the nation.

An Ironton man, Arthur B. Green, 60, was taken to the City hospital yesterday afternoon after suffering a sunstroke on North Main street. He was found lying in the yard at St. Mary Catholic church by Harold Titus, an employe of the Shell Oil Co. station at Main and George streets and taken to the hospital in the Merle H. Hughes ambulance. After being treated for sunstroke by a physician, he was released from the hospital this morning. Green came to Marion only recently and is employed by the Kohbarger Brothers, building contractors.

With the heat wave practically universal throughout the midwest, city dwellers and those in the agricultural areas alike are scanning the skies for a ray of relief not only from the heat but for help for the crops now endangered by the prolonged dry spell.

The manager of an experimental station in eastern Ohio reports that gardeners are finding the heat and lack of water damaging the apple crop and some vegetable crops.

Continued humid today, tonight and Wednesday with a few scattered thunderstorms tomorrow is the weatherman's prediction for Marion and vicinity.

The thermometer stood at 84 at noon today following yesterday's high of 89 and a low of 70 last night. A year ago Marionites basked in a high of 73 and waxed comfortable in a low of 56.

Weatherman Says "It's Not Hot—Just Normal"

By The Associated Press

The weatherman, who takes a scientific attitude toward temperatures and that sort of thing, said today it wasn't unduly hot—just "normal."

But, you couldn't convince Ohioans, who have baked, blistered and collapsed under a withering sun for the last 10 days.

It's all a matter of comparison, the weatherman said blithely. The summer was unusually cool until Aug. 3 when the mercury bounced up to "normal" and stayed there.

The state appeared in for some continued normality or "quite warm and humid today, tonight and Wednesday."

Although another case of heat collapse was reported in Cincinnati, citizens seemed to be weathering the weather better than crops. In Washington, the agriculture department saw the torrid, dry days as a "serious threat" to all midwestern crops.

Supt. Walter Sherman of the Mahoning county experimental farm at Youngstown said gardeners report the heat and water lack are causing tomatoes to crack, apples to drop from trees and tops of late potatoes to dry up.

Crop-Withering Heat Shows No Sign of Easing

By The Associated Press

The current heat wave, withering crops throughout most of the midwest, showed no signs today of abatement.

Except for "rather cool" temperatures in the Dakotas, western Nebraska and the northern Rocky Mountain states, the weather outlook for today was "continued warm, similar to that of yesterday," the weather bureau said.

The corn crop in southern Illinois and Iowa was reported in "pretty bad condition," the bureau said, adding that moisture now is needed generally in all the area from the Appalachians to eastern Nebraska and southward through Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas.

The hot dry weather was described by agriculture department officials in Washington as a "serious threat" to all midwestern crops.

The only relief in prospect for any of the midwest, forecasters said, would be a narrow band of cool air moving eastward tonight across Minnesota and the northern Great Lakes region. Widely scattered showers were probable tonight also in northwestern Iowa, extreme southern Minnesota and west-central Wisconsin but they were not expected to be of any benefit to crops.

Although temperatures yesterday were below the 100-plus readings of last week's searing blast, a few midwestern points reported highs of 100 or above with most ranging upward from 90.

HEAT CUTS AT MEAT SUPPLIES

Current Dry Spell Is Called "Serious Threat" to Midwestern Crops.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12—Next year's meat supply hung in the balance today as the midwestern heat wave trimmed official forecasts of corn production and threatened to cause still further losses before harvest time.

Plagued at planting time by cool weather and floods, corn now has run into hot, dry weather which the agriculture department described as a "serious threat" to all crops in the midwest.

Corn is the key to livestock and meat production.

A short crop this year would affect next year's output of meats and other livestock products.

Large Supplies Seen

However, meat supplies for the last three or four months of this year and the early months of 1948 are expected to be large regardless of how this year's corn turns out.

The department forecast the crop as of Aug. 1 at 2,659,959,000 bushels, a decline of about 111,000,000 bushels from its July 15 estimate.

The latter estimate did not take into account damage caused by the hot weather so far this month.

Officials have said that a corn crop of about 2,850,000,000 bushels would be needed to maintain meat production at this year's rate of 155 pounds per consumer.

Affected most by a short corn crop would be livestock farmers in eastern and southern areas who depend in full or in part on midwestern grain for their feed supplies.

Despite the gloomy corn outlook, the department painted a favorable picture of overall crop production prospects. Based on Aug. 1 conditions, aggregate production would be two per cent above the 1942-46 average, and only two per cent below last year's record volume.

Weather Holds Key

But continued unfavorable weather could reduce total production below the Aug. 1 estimate, officials said.

The department said most of the largest winter wheat crop in history was harvested by the end of July, and that an earlier promise of a record total wheat crop is being borne out despite a slight decrease in spring wheat.

Production of all wheat was put at 1,428,000,000 bushels compared with last year's 1,155,715,000, the precious record. Officials said more feeding of wheat to offset prospective short corn supplies is likely during the year ahead. More could be fed and still allow record exports of this grain to shortage areas.

33 BUSHELS AN ACRE SEEN FOR OHIO CORN

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12—Ohio's corn crop for 1947 was estimated today at 33 bushels an acre for a total of 111,838,000 bushels by the federal crop reporting board of the department of agriculture.

The Ohio figure is part of a nationally low crop of 2,659,949,000 bushels (estimated), in comparison with the 3,287,000,000 bushels in 1946.

Other crop figures for Ohio as of Aug. 1 included:

Winter wheat, 22 bushels per acre, and production 49,185,000 bushels; oats, 26 bushels per acre and 20,670 bushels.

Soybeans, 13,712,000 bushels; tobacco, 1,066 pounds per acre, totalling 20,145,000 pounds of which 13,545,000 pounds were burley; sugar beets, 7 tons per acre, total 147,000 tons; apples, 3,162,000 (commercial production only); and potatoes 105 bushels per acre for 4,725,000 bushels.

TWO CARS, 19 ABOARD, CRASH

11 Persons Injured In Accidents Involving Passenger Packed Autos.

Three accidents in which 11 persons were slightly injured occurred in this district between 1:30 p. m. yesterday and 2:20 a. m. today, according to a report of the state highway patrol.

Two of the cars involved were transporting a total of 19 persons. The first accident resulted in injury to eight persons.

Yesterday at about 1:30 p. m., on route 42, 3.9 miles south of Cardington, a car driven by Mrs. Mary Phillips, 36, of Cleveland overturned several times when she lost control. Eight passengers, Michael, 41, Margaret, 6, and Rosemary Phillipps, 3, Samuel Sisian, 64, Rose Asadorian, 47, Paul, 18, and Peter Didian, 19, suffered minor cuts and bruises. All were taken to Jane Cane hospital in Delaware where they were treated and released. The car was badly damaged.

The other accident involving a passenger-loaded auto occurred on county road 123 at about 7 p. m. yesterday 5.8 miles south of Marion. Cars driven by Richard E. Lingrel 19, of 540 Davids street and Elmer J. Lust, 58, of near Prospect were eastbound. Lingrel tried to pass Lust and Lust made a left turn, Lingrel being forced to do the same. The Lingrel car collided with a fence post and the grill was damaged considerably. There were nine passengers and a dog in the Lingrel car, according to the patrol. All were uninjured.

A right rear tire blowout caused an accident this morning at 2:20 on route 529 four-tenths of a mile south of Marion. Three persons

U.S. AND YUGOSLAVIA TRADE UN PUNCHES

By The Associated Press

LAKE SUCCESS, Aug. 12—The United States made a direct charge today that Communist groups supported by Albania, Yugoslavia and Bulgaria hoped to set up a totalitarian regime in Greece.

Herschel V. Johnson, deputy U. S. representative, made the charge before the United Nations security council. He spoke after Yugoslavia had accused the United States of deliberately misrepresenting conditions in the Balkans "to justify the increase in the interference in Greece" under the Truman doctrine.

Johnson said support of the Greek Communists by the three Soviet satellites was "a peril to peace," but added that the "threat can be checked if firmly faced by the United Nations."

Yugoslav representative Dr. Joza Vilfan blamed much of the Balkan difficulties on the United States and on what he called a failure of the United Nations security council to examine the problem closely.

He told the security council that the 11-nation Balkan investigating commission had not favored creation of the subsidiary inquiry group now in Greece.

"It was proposed by the United States delegation," he declared, "in order to justify the increase in the interference in Greece. The United State needed a subsidiary group in order to create the impression that the serious situation in Greece was the consequence of an alleged interference from the outside."

Hudson Hikes Price Of Cars $45 to $95

By The United Press

DETROIT, Aug. 12—Hudson motor cars went up $45 to $95 today. George H. Pratt, Hudson vice president in charge of sales, said "rising material and labor costs" forced the increase.

Hudson was the fourth manufacturer to boost prices within the past two weeks. Previously, price increases ranging up to $200 were announced by General Motors, Packard and Kaiser-Frazer.

ORDER COVERS HOUSING, FOOD AND CLOTHING

Justice Department Instructed To Look for "Conspiracies"; Jail Threatened.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12—Attorney General Clark today ordered an investigation of food, clothing and housing prices.

He instructed the justice department's anti-trust division to determine whether "conspiracies" exist "to maintain or to increase present prices in the food, clothing and housing fields."

Jail sentences, rather than fines, will be sought for any violators, it was announced.

A justice department statement announcing Clark's action, said:

"Such conspiracies will be prosecuted criminally and in those cases the justice department will oppose acceptance by the courts of pleas of nolo contendere (no contest), and upon conviction of the defendants the department will recommend jail sentences for the individual defendants and maximum fines against the corporations."

Follows Study

The statement said the investigation follows a three months study of the present price situation by Assistant Attorney General John F. Sonnett who took charge of the anti-trust division in May.

Clark feels, it was added, that "the soaring high prices now continuing in the goods, clothing and housing fields, require that a new and more vigorous approach be undertaken in these fields."

Hence, it was stated, the decision to press for jail sentences for individuals violating the anti-trust laws.

Shortly before Clark's announcement, the CIO full employment committee had issued a call for a special session of congress to restore price controls.

Threaten Pay Demands

The CIO pronouncement said there would be another round of wage demands if living costs continued to rise.

Clark recalled in his announcement that President Truman has repeatedly warned of dangers from rising prices.

Clark's statement said:

"In his state of the union message in January, President Truman pointed out to the congress that, despite half a century of anti-trust law enforcement, one of the gravest threats to our welfare lay in the increasing concentration of power in the hands of a small number of giant organizations, and that today we find that to a greater extent than ever before whole industries are dominated by one or a few large organizations which can restrict production in the interest of higher profits and thus reduce employment and purchasing power.

Recent Warning

"In his recent mid-year economic report, the President warned that prices, to support a prosperous economy, must be kept down to the lowest point compatible with costs and reasonable business incentives and that a free enterprise system can not tolerate collusion in price, in curtailment of output, or in the restriction of capacity expansion, or, the hampering of the entry of new firms into the business life of the community.

"The anti-trust program for this year will be aimed at these vital problems.

"In addition to the new program the division will continue its present activities aimed at breaking up monopoly power in various industries."

Stay-Uppers To See Heavenly Show Tonight As Meteors Fall

By PAUL L. ELLIS
United Press Science Writer

NEW YORK, Aug. 12—The heavens tonight and probably the rest of the week will put on a show for late stay-uppers.

The principal characters in this show are the Perseid meteors, which appear at this time every year. They may be seen in the Perseus constellation in the northeastern part of the sky.

The meteors, flying at about 20 miles a second, radiate from the constellation, and may be seen best after midnight.

An astronomer, Robert R. Coles, assistant curator at the Hayden planetarium, said the Perseid meteors usually reach their maximum on the night of Aug. 12 but sometimes the maximum may come a day or two later. He said the "shooting stars" should be visible all the rest of this week.

The meteors, according to Coles, become visible after they reach the earth's atmosphere, some 90 miles up.

As they zoom into the ozone from outer space, they begin to glow as a result of friction. Most of the meteors disintegrate before they have a chance to hit the earth's surface. However, some of the meteors do land on earth. They are stony, but contain some minerals, including nickel. In rare instances, they contain diamonds—but these are worth nothing commercially.

Coles said that the Perseid meteors are believed to be particles still whirling about in the orbit of the Tuttle comet which was discovered in 1862. The comet has since gone its way into space but the meteors remain behind in the orbit. It is this orbit that the earth now is approaching.

Leonids—Nov. 14

Big Show in '86

The orbit of the world's most famous comet, Halley's still is throwing off meteors. Of course, the big show of this comet won't come off again until 1986. The last time Halley's was visible, in 1910, many thousands of persons thought the world was coming to an end.

Many other spectacular shows in the skies will appear in the meantime. For instance, the planet, Mars approaches close to the earth—astronomically speaking—again next spring. No meteors are expected as a result, but it will give astronomers another chance to make new investigations of this heavenly body about 50,000,000 miles from earth. Some of those on the fantastic side believe Mars may be inhabited by some type of human—men who may some day start shooting rockets at earth.

Coles, however, believes earth has a defense against such rockets. It is our atmosphere. He believes that rockets from Mars or other stellar planets would go the route of the meteors. That is, they would burn up from friction when they reached Earth's layer of oxygen.

Fibrositis

The various parts of the body, such as muscle and bone, must be bound together and this is done by a special kind of tissue, known as fibrous tissue. It resembles the scar tissue which forms to heal wounds. Muscles and nerves are sheathed in thin sheets of such tissue and it forms the cords and tendons by which muscles are attached to the bones.

This tissue may sometimes become inflamed, giving rise to the condition known as fibrositis in which there are pain, swelling, stiffness, and wasting of the muscles.

According to Dr. Michael Kelly of Perth, Australia, there may be three causes for fibrositis—injury, infections such as may be present in the teeth, tonsils, or sinuses, or what is known as a rheumatic condition.

He is also of the opinion that one of the results of fibrositis may often be headache if the inflamed fibrous tissue is located in the upper part of the neck. In treating headaches due to fibrositis, a local anesthetic, that is a pain-deadening substance, was injected into the affected area. The pain was located in the back of the head, was continuous and on both sides. There was tenderness on pressure over the upper part of the neck. In all of these cases the symptoms were relieved by the injections.

Pain in the shoulders may also be due to fibrositis. In many cases, the pain is felt only when the arms are raised. In more severe cases, there is a greater degree of pain, together with wasting of the muscles and stiffness of the shoulder joints. In these instances, also, it is necessary to find the areas of fibrositis. This can often be done by finding areas which are painful upon pressure. When such areas are located, and injected with a local anesthetic, prompt relief and often permanent cure are brought about. In 62 of 105 cases of painful shoulder, the area of fibrositis was located and injected. Cure was permanent in 38 of the patients.

Muscular pain may be felt on movement or during rest in the forearm and may be due to fibrositis affecting certain muscles just below the elbow. In such cases, the condition may follow an injury or a mild infection. Here again, treatment by injections of a local anesthetic bring relief.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

A Reader: I have been afflicted with psoriasis for some time. Will you please give me some suggestions?

Answer: Psoriasis occurs more frequently in the fall and winter than in the spring and summer. The cause is not known, but it is thought that it is due to some disorder in the metabolism of nitrogen.

Treatment consists in the use of various ointments, such as chrysarobin. Coal tar ointment and treatment with ultra-violet light have also been found very helpful measures.

This disease should be treated under the care of a physician.

Ohio Farms To Get 4-Year Soil Conservation Job in One Day

By The Associated Press

NEWARK, O., Aug. 12—Forty lime trucks and numerous [illegible] will descend on two hilly farms near Brownsville in the [illegible]ern corner of Licking county Oct. 2 and try to do four [illegible] work in soil building in that one day.

The trucks, almost hub-to-hub, will crawl slowly along contour [illegible] their spreaders whirling [illegible] crushed limestone [illegible] square foot of ground [illegible] reach. The tractors will [illegible] cultivating and seeding [illegible] permanent meadows with [illegible] and ladinobrome mixtures. [illegible]er tractors with back-saving [illegible]aker post-hole diggers will [illegible] rod after rod of fence, [illegible] needed, following nature's lines rather than a man's eye and its straight lines.

On the steep slopes Boy Scouts from Newark and other communities will plant red and white pine seedlings for a future crop of Christmas trees and a nearer gain of holding the soil. Bulldozers will fill gullies and dig a farm pond.

Thus, John Rodman, war veteran who bought 128 acres on a GI loan a year or so ago to become a semi-pro farmer with work as an insurance agent as a backstop, and George Latham, owner of the adjoining 80 acres for the last 25 or 30 years, will learn the latest about soil conservation. Some 10,000 people from all over Ohio are expected to witness the commando demonstration of what can be done to keep top-soil from washing to the sea and to keep the ground fertile and productive.

Has Several Sponsors

The demonstration is sponsored by the Licking County Soil Conservation district, with the cooperation of the Columbus Tractor club, farm publications, and the farm directors of several Ohio radio stations.

The tractor club, representing leading manufacturers, is lending thousands of dollars worth of tractors and other power tools for the day. The U. S. soil conservation service is surveying the two farms, which form one small watershed in the upper reaches of the Muskingum valley, and supplying technical advice and plans. Hugh Bennett, chief of the service, is expected to attend.

The Baltimore and Ohio railroad may bring out an old funnel-stacked locomotive to carry out the theme of the demonstration, "the second frontier."

T. C. Kennard, state conservationist, and Pearl L. Fogle of Lancaster, district conservationist, explained that the two farms lie on U. S. 40, the national trail over which so many pioneers went to the west in the 19th century.

"The land frontier in the west is gone," Fogle said, "and we have to make the most of what we have. What we do to restore the land is our second frontier."

The two farms lie in a sort of amphitheater, with their uplands stretching back from the heavily traveled transcontinental pike. Almost their entire area can be seen from the road, and the plan now is to have the crowd across the pike to watch the men and machines transform the eroded gullies into terraced banks and show that soil problems do not stop at line fences.

"Requires Cooperation"

"Soil conservation is a community problem," Kennard said. "One man can't do it and his neighbor not. They must work together for both to get the full good out of a program."

A toll gate used to stand at the adjoining Sam Cooperrider farm, and two replicas will be built—as soon as the sponsors get a good description of what the old one really looked like—for the atmosphere of the occasion.

The two farms were chosen, Kennard said because both Latham and Rodman had applied for help under the federal soil conservation program, because they needed to put the practices into use, and because of the location. When the job—expected to cost between $3,000 and $5,000—is done on the evening of Oct. 2, the accomplishments will be in a show-window on the busy road.

A similar demonstration was made in Iowa last year, but this will be the first in this section of the midwest.

Organizations cooperating in the program—either themselves or through their officials—will include the Ohio Chamber of Commerce, the Muskingum watershed conservancy district, the Ohio department of agriculture, the Ohio State university extension service, the Ohio State Grange and Ohio Farm Bureau, the Friends of the Land, the federal reserve bank of Cleveland, the Ohio Agricultural Development Council, the Ohio Forestry association, the Ohio Bankers' association, and the state department of education.

5 Men on Atomic Commission Struggle with Biggest U. S. Job

By FRANK CAREY
Associated Press Science Reporter

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12—In a white building on Washington's Constitution avenue—not far from the Lincoln memorial—five men are directing one of the toughest jobs in American history.

They are the members of the U. S. atomic energy commission chairman David E. Lilienthal, former head of the Tennessee Valley Authority, Dr. Robert F Bacher, Cornell physicist who worked on the A-Bomb; Sumner T Pike, a banker by profession; Rear Adm Lewis L. Straus (ret.), also a banker, and William W. Waymack, editor of the Des Moines Register and Tribune.

The law setting up the commission stated that none of the commissioners could hold any other job. This was a bit unnecessary. A survey of the powers, duties and responsibilities of this group shows that they get a fulltime workout.

President Truman, when he appointed the commission, said they were shouldering "responsibilities as great as any men ever assumed in peacetime."

Some of Their Jobs

Here's an idea of their job

They are chiefs of the vast government plants and laboratories used in the $2,000,000,000 development of the atomic bomb.

They control all development of atomic energy in this country by having direct or licensing power over all fissionable materials now developed or which may be developed later.

(Fissionable materials are those whose atoms can be split to release energy These materials are uranium-235; plutonium, which is man-made from uranium and uranium-233 which is made from thorium.)

It's against the law for anyone to have or to produce fissionable materials without a license from the commission. The atom chiefs may license private researchers or private or public research institutions The commission maintains exclusive ownership of all facilities capable of making the wherewithal of an atomic bomb

The only outside facilities which may be licensed to do research are those not capable of making enough material for "an atomic bomb or any other atomic weapon."

Virtual Monopoly

The commission maintains for the government a virtual monopoly over all atomic inventions and patents

The atomic energy law says "it shall be the policy of the commission to control the dissemination of restricted data in such a manner as to assure the common defense and security."

"Restricted data" means not only data concerning military aspects of atomic energy but also data concerning the use of fissionable material in the production of power.

The death penalty, life imprisonment or a maximum $20,000 fine and up to 20 years imprisonment, or both, are the possible punishments for any American convicted of disclosing information which the commission rules should be restricted.

That is, provided any such disclosure was made "with intent to injure the U. S or with intent to secure an advantage to any foreign nation." The death penalty or life imprisonment may be imposed only upon recommendation of the jury and only in cases where the offense was committed to injure the U S)

Prosecution can be commenced only upon the express direction of the attorney general and after investigation by the F B I.

Half-Billion Budget

The bosses of the atom have a $500,000,000 budget

The commission does not operate all its various facilities as a strict government agency. It lets contracts to industrial firms and to universities That was true also when the military "Manhattan District" was the nation's controller of atomic energy So far these contracts have been on a non-profit basis

"We have made an effort," says Chairman Lilienthal, "to fit this new activity, which is not only new scientifically but presents the possibility of a new industry to the world—an activity which requires government control of the dangerous aspects represented by physical properties—into the existing United States institutions and the existing pattern and habit of doing things in the United States."

A general manager, Carroll L Wilson, handles administrative and executive functions for the commission as it directs There are four main divisions of the work—research, production, engineering and military application

A military liaison committee provides a direct link between the commission and the armed forces A general advisory committee of top-flight scientists advises on scientific matters, and the commission reports regularly to a joint congressional committee on atomic energy.

Lilienthal makes the point frequently that the commission is seeking, insofar as possible, to have its various activities carried on regionally rather than on a wholly national basis

Offices, facilities and participating institutions are distributed widely throughout the country.

Principal Activities

The principal facilities of the commission, and the work being done or earmarked for them, are:

▶The Los Alamos laboratory in New Mexico—working particularly on the use of atomic energy for atomic weapon development and production

▶The Oak Ridge, Tenn., plant—where the fissionable isotope U-235 is separated from normal uranium. Here also, a large number of research projects are under way One is designed to produce electrical power from atomic energy. Another is concerned with the possibilities of propelling aircraft and rockets by nuclear forces Here also are produced radioactive materials for medical and other research.

▶The Hanford Engineer Works at Pasco, Wash., where plutonium is produced.

▶The Argonne national laboratory at Chicago—A great research center to which scientists from 29 of the major universities and institutes of the middle west have access The University of Chicago is contractor for administration.

▶The Brookhaven national laboratory, now under construction on Long Island, N Y Like the Argonne facility, it is a national laboratory of the commission, but immediate responsibility of operation falls to a group of nine eastern universities called Associated Universities, Inc This laboratory will be concerned principally with fundamental research.

▶Knolls Laboratory, now under construction near Schenectady, N Y. It will be operated by the General Electric Co under contract and will be concerned, among other things, with the development of atomic power—with early emphasis on the propulsion of ships.

▶The radiation laboratories of the commission at the University of California, Berkeley. Here is centered research on the generation of high-speed particles by the so-called "atom-smashing machines"—the cyclotron, the betatron and the synchrotron

▶The Dayton Engineer Works, near Miamisburg, O, a research and development facility now under construction, to be operated by the Monsanto Chemical Co

Other firms which have commission contracts are the Carbide and Carbon Chemicals Corp, and the Victoreen Instrument Co

The Fairchild Engine and Airplane Corporation has a direct contract with the Army Air Forces for the aircraft propulsion investigation under way at Oak Ridge.

Fresh Out of Gas

THE senate subcommittee investigating wartime airplane contracts given to Howard Hughes has run out of gas so suddenly that now an investigation of the investigators is in order. It looks as if someone had monkeyed with the fuel supply.

The explanation that's so obvious it can't be shrugged off is that the investigation got too hot to handle. Mr. Hughes, who seems to know what he's talking about, bets it will never be heard of again.

Whoever wanted the thing stopped, it hardly would seem to be the chief subject of the investigation, Mr. Hughes himself. He was going like a house afire and winning friends and influencing people at a rate that was making the politicians giddy. In Washington, they're thinking of revising the old saying about having a bear by the tail to having a Hughes by the whiskers.

In any event, the subcommittee's sudden decision to be called out of town unexpectedly has given the senate war investigation committee and, indirectly, the whole setup of congressional investigations a black eye. It also looks as if the Republicans (those who were going to open all congressional sessions with prayers and close them with investigations) had bitten off more than they knew how to chew. There is an art to investigating—and the art is to keep the heat turned on the witness.

Before forgetting the whole thing, those who hooted at the plywood plane, under the misapprehension that it was being investigated, had better get unhooted. Only fools hoot at new ideas in aviation, the same kind of fools that hooted at the Wright Brothers' contraption. The world hasn't seen anything yet, where airplanes are concerned. One of the things it may well see not too far in the future is plans for which the Hughes plywood model will be the progenitor.

The Rio Conference

DELEGATES of the 21 Western Hemisphere nations convening Friday in Rio De Janeiro will confront some very real problems, despite the fact little surface tension is apparent in inter-American relations.

The problem of communism in South American countries is growing. How to meet communistic threats is a matter which will be considered. There are South American nations where Communists within present a greater danger than foreign aggression.

Cuba and other Latin American sugar producers are angered by the United States sugar act of 1947 which they say is an economic bludgeon to keep them in line. Because of the law, Cuba at first indicated unwillingness to attend the conference, but finally agreed to, possibly in order to air her objections to it.

The civil war which has been ravaging Paraguay for five months, presents a problem which the conference should take a hand in solving.

Originally scheduled for 1945, the conference was postponed because of differences between the United States and the Peron government in Argentina. The conference is entirely in accord with the UN charter which authorizes regional conferences within its framework, and it will have one advantage over the wearisome Lake Success proceedings: there will be no Soviet delegation on hand thoughtfully fingering its little nickel-plated veto thrower.

Around and Around

HAVING done in 73 hours what it once took Magellan's ship three years to do, Bill Odom already is planning another round-the-world flight. This time he is going to try it the hard way—via the poles—with newsmen and scientists aboard. They will be handy for plying their special skills, also for prodding the pilot if he falls asleep, as he once did on the flight just finished.

There are some who'll say, "Why do it again? Seventy-three hours is plenty fast enough. There's no reason why anyone should want to make it any faster."

Maybe so But for better or worse, that's the way human beings are. They are always trying to build higher buildings, span wider rivers, fly a faster mile. When Nellie Bly circled the globe in 72 days there were some who said there was no sense in going that fast. They'll still be saying it when it takes 24 hours.

Some Things Are Too High

THE WAC'S and the Waves are unhappy because their skirt lengths are fixed by regulation. While their civilian sisters have lowered hemlines in accordance with the dictates of style arbiters, the girls in uniform still wear them high—too high for these times when a knee, inadvertently exposed for a moment, may cause male eyes to pop for a block in every direction.

Both services promise they'll rectify the situation as quickly as possible. Knowing what "as quickly as possible" can mean, many a veteran will hazard a guess that Wac and Wave hemlines will be coming down just about the time the next style change is sending civilian hems kneeward again.

News Behind the News

Bitterness Voiced Over Displaced Persons Issue.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12—Congress failed to enact the Stratton bill admitting 400,000 displaced persons from Europe. This is besturring considerable bitterness among people who can make themselves bitter about such matters, believing the United States should be a refuge for anyone who needs a political haven. These people had spread their own impression that a critical emergency on the issue requires immediate action.

There are perhaps 1,000,000 Europeans who do not wish to return to their homes for political or social reasons (they fear to go under the wing of Communism). About 21 per cent are children; 13 per cent are over 44 years old; 20 per cent are Jews; 65 per cent are Catholic; 15 per cent Protestants; a majority were in agriculture before the war, but the group also includes variously skilled workers; 60 per cent are in the United States zone and will cost us $130,000,000 to support this year. (These figures are all from legislative authorities who have investigated the subject and placed their apparently correct figures in the Congressional Record at one time or another near the end of congress.)

Public Poorly Informed

Congress realized the problem could not be solved simply by opening American immigration gates to let the mass flow in, although some evidence indicated many had relatives here who might support them. If this were true, however, Republican Representative Keefe of Wisconsin pointed out in a speech which was not noticed, that Admirals had testified shipping was unavailable to bring any small portion to these shores. The public simply has been ill-informed and misled about the whole problem by agitating people who have not stopped to ask themselves three questions, namely: What would be best for the 800,000 displaced? What would be best for us? How can what is best for both be done?

So the senate, in the closing moments of its session, authorized a senate judiciary sub-committee to conduct an investigation of the whole question of immigration. This inquiry now will seek the answer to the questions. It may also determine facts about the charges frequently made that Mr. Roosevelt admitted huge numbers of aliens on temporary permits during the war without any real authority in law; charges that aliens flow freely right now across borders; charges that large numbers of Europeans have come into this country as travelers since the war ended and simply remained. (The Lady Mountbatten, involved in the New York check story, was in this last class.)

Complicated Question

The attitude of congress seems to me to be simply this: This is great sympathy for the DP's. Congress does not want to send them back to their homes in the new Russian slave empire. There is unwillingness to relax the immigration laws, especially while there is a lack of housing and a shortage of goods There is a further fear that in event of a recession, the admission of DP's might complicate the employment problem. Government officials have estimated that from one to five million people (many Negroes) will be displaced from southern farms in the next few years by mechanization. The DP"s are mostly farm workers. Our own southern farm DP's are supposed to seek new employment in northern cities, but so might the Europeans, if let in loose.

But perhaps a faster, part-answer to the problem will be found at the forthcoming meeting of foreign ministers of the Americas. Certainly Latin America is a young and growing area in which immigration and colonization is needed more than in the United States. Better opportunities for the DP's may exist there. For us to absorb some may be found economically feasible for both them and us. An all-America agreement would certainly be better than a United States decision alone

Certainly a permanent solution (not a temporary, emergency answer) must be sought, and it must be found in the answer to the three questions rather than the bitter, misleading propaganda which is now being circulated, obscuring the actual facts.

Don't Freeze Rents, Just Eliminate Them

A bill has been introduced in the Costa Rican congress calling for a two-year moratorium on rents.

And our landlords think they've got cause for complaint.

That Costa Rican plan is the tenant's idea of the perfect kind of rent control.

Tom Dewey could be elected governor on that kind of platform.

If it were ever adopted widely, it would knock the props out from under one of the real estate man's arguments, the one, I mean, about it being cheaper to buy than pay rent.

Yes sir, people would be so glad to sign a lease for free rent, they wouldn't care if it carried an automatic increase of say 15 per cent every couple of years.

Moreover, at least one feature would appeal to the landlords, paying that kind of rent, no one would have the heart to complain. Or wouldn't they?

Third Party Threats

By RAYMOND MOLEY

LOS ANGELES, Aug 12—Wise people in California tell you not to dismiss Henry Wallace lightly. He is a cloud much bigger than Truman's left hand He pours out the doctrine which really satisfies left wingers. The President's gestures to labor and other minorities have not removed the fear that he is too conservative for the times.

Here in California, as in Oregon and Washington, Wallace's crowds were large, enthusiastic and financially responsive. He is a politician who can charge admission prices in line with the best movie houses and get away with it. His break with Truman sharply underlined his sacrificial convictions and pointed up the President's middle-of-the-road bent. California radicals are not Democratic by tradition. They took only guest tickets while Roosevelt was president. They have never really merged their objectives with those of the old Democrats. The loose alliance served for 12 years, and now it is no more. Wallace offers them the formal means of declaring the end of the alliance.

"Bitter End" Battle Talk

The Wallace cause has found a California leader, Robert W. Kenney, former attorney general and unsuccessful rival of Governor Earl Warren for the Democratic nomination in 1946. Kenney, some time after Wallace was here, had a meeting of Wallace followers in Fresno. There was tall talk of a battle to the bitter end against Truman and his policies. There was talk also of ways and means of capturing for Wallace the California delegation to next year's Democratic convention.

Later, at a meeting of the Democratic state committee, there was a fight over a resolution on foreign relations. The Kenney forces favored one condemning Truman's doctrines and policies. The opposition offered a substitute and carefully maneuvered a vote. The substitute was overwhelmingly successful. But this vote was no true measure of the Kenney-Wallace strength.

Meanwhile, the conservative Democrats are active. Thomas Scully is leading a move to capture the Democratic organization. Scully was beaten by James Roosevelt for state chairman last year.

Seeks Reconciliation

In the midst of all this is the perspiring, worried personality of James Roosevelt, who is trying to reconcile these forces. His efforts to put words together to satisfy all result in watered-down manifestos, distasteful to all. Roosevelt's ally of last year, Will Rogers, Jr., unsuccessful candidate for senator, is opposing Kenney and supporting the Truman doctrine. The news of the Howard Hughes-Elliott Roosevelt fandangoes, played up in California papers in all detail, is not helping any of the Democrats. And, it may be assumed, it is embarrassing to State Chairman Roosevelt.

The best estimate of what will happen next year is that Kenney will put Wallace on the presidential primary ballot and try to elect a delegation for the former vice president.

After Truman is nominated, the issue of a third party will be resolved. It may be another Bull Moose affair, and it may end in sound and fury. But the result will not help carry the state for Truman.

Anniversary

Just 160 years ago last month, July 13, 1787, the Ordinance of 1787 made the Northwest Territory part of the United States, making possible the formation of the state of Ohio as we now know it. The territory comprised Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan, Wisconsin and a segment of Minnesota.

Pointing to a message which concerns us all on this anniversary, the Ohio Forestry Association says: "The Wilderness of 1787 is now the center of world economic and industrial power. But its timber is gone; its rich iron ores have been perilously reduced by the drain of two world wars; not much oil remains; vast quantities of coal have been removed; the wealth of the agricultural land has been dissipated in many areas.

"The preservation of this dynamic territory and the position of our country as a world power lies in the development of the renewable resources of the soil. This means the ascendancy of the products of the vegetable kingdom over the mineral kingdom, the farm over the mine. The vegetable kingdom renews itself; the mineral kingdom does not.

"Fifty years hence Ohioans will know whether citizens are capable of sustaining moral discipline necessary to develop new scientific activities based on the applied factivities based on the application of the law of the Balance of Nature. This law teaches that we must restore and protect the capacity of the earth to produce by avoiding a dangerous, non-scientific approach to our problems. We cannot safeguard any of our resources such as soil, water, forests or wild life if we neglect one as we try to remedy the others . . . We can again have these resources in abundance if citizens learn to cooperate in this thrilling adventure, worthy of the greatest ambition of people who love liberty and honor God."

Daily Bible Thought

The Bible is the richest record of God's truth, and His ways with me. It richly rewards study, but you can go direct to God for instruction, and wisdom, if you have faith. Psalm 25:5: "Guide me in Thy truth, and teach me; for Thou art the God of my salvation."

The Misfortunes of Elliott

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

IT IS difficult to live in the shadow of a great man. Perhaps that is why so few of the outstanding figures in history produced sons who were their equal. Franklin D Roosevelt's sons faced the necessity of receding from their father's limelight or competing with him for it. Of the four brothers, Elliott has emerged as the most publicized, the most noisome, the least attractive to those who believe that blood relationship ought not to be turned into an advantage.

If one were minded to be kind and generous to Elliott, it could be said that he chose to be an individualist, to establish his own personality. In that case, his position would today have been pleasanter for him had he in no manner whatsoever associated himself with his father's fortunes He might have emulated Herbert Hoover's sons, who avoided any political advantages or even relationships. They went their own way, one an engineer; the other a farmer. Calvin Coolidge's son, John, similarly disassociated himself from his father's career. It is a matter of taste and choice.

Some Exceptions

Important men's sons are often handicapped by the fact that anything they achieve is attributed to the influence and position of their father On the other hand, John D. Rockfeller, Jr., built a great and notable career for himself in spite of his father; Charles Edison became governor of New Jersey and an outstanding citizen through his own efforts; Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr. and his brother, John Lodge, may owe much to their grandparent's name but nothing to his influence. The best contemporary example is Senator Robert A. Taft and his brother, Charles, who overcame the impediments of blood relationships and carved out for themselves singularly worthy careers in American life.

I cast no stones at Elliott Roosevelt, but say simply that were he my son, I should be deeply disappointed. Whenever he finds himself in difficulties he suggests that an attempt is being made to smear his father. This is true only to the degree that he has permitted his conduct to serve his father's memory as it has. He could have so lived that his father's opponents and enemies might have found no advantage in references to Elliott.

Although young folks say that times change, they do not change that fast and Americans do not like to see the families of the presidents engaged in Elliott Roosevelt's preoccupations. Had he respected his father's position and prestige, of which he makes so much in his difficulties, had he truly desired that his father's name should not be smeared by his enemies, he should have so conducted himself as not to give anyone cause even to raise an eyebrow. It is too late now to talk about smears—that should have been thought about when he was playing the night club circuit with Johnny Meyer and such.

It is a case of having one's cake and eating. Elliott Roosevelt apparently enjoyed being a son of a president of the United States and chose to take advantage of that situation. Yet, he wrote a book after his father's death which sensationally gave the impression that his father was a tricky prevaricator who was out to do Winston Churchill, whom Elliott painted as a drunkard. It was as though he were accusing his own father of rolling his inebriated companion in arms. No lover of Mr. Roosevelt, I found the book disgusting because it struck me as a violation of every propriety. His interview with Stalin was similarly sensational, but it was a president's son taking advantage of his father's name and prestige, opposing his country's publicly announced policy.

Now he is involved in all this mess and no matter whether he is, in a manner, "fall guy" for fast operators, it seems to me that he should have avoided getting into that sort of situation. It is all so unfortunate, for it gives the impression of an anarchical household in which propriety gives way to wilful and irresponsible disregard of good taste.

Perhaps someone might yet suggest to Elliott Roosevelt that he pipe down and give his father's foes a chance not to smear him.

A Lincoln Letter

Abraham Lincoln's sympatay for a man who enlisted in the Union Army while intoxicated, then deserted, was demonstrated in a Lincoln letter just made public by the Library of Congress.

It is one of the letters in the Robert Todd Lincoln collection. The deserter's wife appealed to Lincoln from her husband's conviction on a charge of desertion, stating that the husband had received only a uniform before he decided to go back to his business.

Lincoln pardoned him on condition that a replacement be provided for three years.

Letters consisting almost entirely or requests for clemency for soldiers were made public. In many cases Lincoln reversed decisions of military and civil courts.

The Once Over

By H. I. PHILLIPS

Letters for Special Delivery

MAJOR PHILIP B. FLEMING,
Administrator, Federal Works Agency,
WASHINGTON, D. C.:

Dear Major—The papers inform me of approval of a superdooper national highway system to embrace the whole United States. It will connect forty-two State capitals and link the larger cities of the land by express highways, viaducts and tunnels, so that traffic lights and cross traffic may be eliminated and swifter travel made possible for Americans. The system is to be built by the States with Federal aid and will cost three billion dollars.

• • •

Well, I am against it. Not on account of a little sum like three billion dollars. It is years since any American could get disturbed over a sum as petty as that. I am against it because the movement to make it easier for Americans to go places has gone far enough. What this country needs is a movement to make them stay home more.

• • •

The truth is, Major, that the express highway has already put the American family on the bum, made a wreck of the home, increased national indigestion 82 per cent, doubled our eyestrain, overloaded our hospitals, made the hot dog the national symbol and completely blitzed the day when Americans stayed home for hours at a stretch without squawking.

• • •

There are too many good highways already and too many people going places on them. Instead of broader highways with fewer stoplights we need narrower ones with more stoplights if the population is not to be kept in a state of sustained flight from home and fireside. Americans were a sturdier, more likeable, steadier and genuinely happier people when they were home part of the time.

• • •

They had poise, dependability and self-control when it was impossible to have breakfast in Parsippany, N. J.; lunch in Saugerties, N. Y.; and dinner in the Thousand Islands. They were a less jittery folk before ma, pa and all the kids could touch six different states in twenty-four hours. They were a more easily satisfied race before the road builders began converting the highways and byways into so many chute the chutes.

• • •

A man writing "Home Sweet Home" today would do the first verse in Pennsylvania, the second in Ohio and the third in Illinois. Home is no longer a man's palace; it is a place where he lights between speed records. The road map is top fireside reading matter.

Link forty-two state capitals by superhighway my eye! Unlink a few of 'em, say I. Dig up some of the present boulevards, throw some roadblocks across the viaducts and let's have a five-year moratorium on tunnels. The human race is going in too many directions too fast and with too few excuses.

Yours,
ELMER

Off to Saratoga's Spa
Where the healing waters are—
Where the horses, blood so blue
Keep in better shape than you.

To the Spa among the hills,
Land of most enormous bills,
Place where cries of "Take 'em quickly!"
Go for well folk and the sickly.

Ho for bottle, spring and pony,
Bubble bath and tips quite phony,
Lodgings not so extra handsome
Where you're almost held for ransom!

Would I were a horse that I
Might a week or two there try!
Horses eat and sleep, oh Phyliss,
Never caring what the bill is!

VANISHING AMERICANISMS

"Taxes are paid out of the sweat of every man's brow."

The fellow who called it Lake Success was a poor judge of accomplishments.

What's become of the old-fashioned housewife who used to say "No, that's more than I want to pay?"

This estimate that it will take $24,000,000 to locate and get rid of all the sworn servants of Russia now on the Federal pay rolls seems a little high. It might be cheaper to point out the loyal Americans and just let the others go.

Heave Ho, Hearties

By TRUMAN TWILL

Women don't know this yet because they don't keep themselves up to date, but the big thing coming in the line of fall fashion foolishness is a whingus called a waist belt—a kind of "little corset."

This contrivance will be worn around the middle to camouflage the true extent of a female's girth. It will operate on the same principle as the neater gadgets of the Spanish inquisition; that is, it will squeeze the wearer out of her true shape and into an artificial one.

All this will be done by means of levers, gears, pulleys, ropes, wires, stays, elastic fabrics with high tensile strength and a certain amount of assistance from other members of the family, the way it used to be when grandma achieved an hour-glass figger if it killed her.

The goal, fashion-wise, is to pinch in the waist enough to exaggerate the flare of the skirt at the hip line. (If anyone wants to know why we are so well-briefed on this subject it is because we have learned the secret of 15 minutes a day. Anyone who doesn't read everything he can find out about women's fashions is missing some of the funniest jokes ever played on human beings.)

Every woman is going to need, somewhere in a secluded place around the house, a good stout post to hold onto while she gets harnessed for public appearances, come autumn. The old-fashioned bedpost won't do the job. There aren't enough of them, in the first place, and in the second place, they aren't stationary.

The ladies are going to want something set into the floor and spiked to the ceiling. When they start whittling down their waists, it's going to be no joke. The posts should be fitted out with pieces of plastic candy for the girls to bite and towels to cry into.

Some of them may conclude before this is over that fashion has gone too far. A few extremists may wake up their minds that the only reasonable way to cut down on their girth is to exercise. There might even be a dangerous radical in the crowd that would stay on a reducing diet.

But all others will need help. This is to advise the lumber companies to lay in a supply of stout hardwood posts for women to hold onto while they are being squeezed out of the shape they're in into the shape they're out of. Civilization marches on while the fashion designers laugh and laugh, because they know what it's wearing underneath.

English Economic Crisis Called Lucky Break for Communism

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

The sensational nature of England's economic crisis, involving as it does the great experiment in socialism, naturally centers world attention on her, but we shouldn't allow ourselves to be misled into regarding this as solely a British disaster.

Most certainly it is one of the momentous international developments of the post-war period. Upon Britain's degree of success in dealing with this emergency must depend largely whether the western democracies are able to hold their own against the westward sweep of an aggressive, empire building communism.

DewittMackenzie

England's bad luck is a stroke of rare good fortune for the redism and its world revolution. Should the crisis deepen and be protracted, it might prove to be the Samson whose strength would topple the pillars of the already shaky politico-economic structure of western Europe.

France Would Go

An already terribly weakened France would find it difficult, if not impossible, to keep her feet under such circumstances. French Socialist Premier Paul Ramadier in a speech yesterday attacked the asperations of communism which he said tried through propaganda to change the meaning of the word "democracy." The fate of the small nations of western Europe obviously is linked with that of France and England.

Prime Minister Attlee declared yesterday Britain is "certain of victory," and the consensus of observers seems to be that this forecast is warranted. However, none can say at this juncture how long the unfortunate country must struggle along the tortuous trail of harsh depression before it finally comes out upon the broad highway to recovery. Attlee himself minced no words over the seriousness of the position.

"We have to face now," he said, "before we have recovered from the effects of the war, and before our long-term plans have taken efect, the necessity of relying entirely on our own resources. This is a situation as serious as any that has faced us in our long history. We must, therefore, act vigorously and drastically."

"Can't Rely on Others"

The prime minister called on the country for a national effort comparable to that which was developed during the war. An estimated 10,000,000 radio listeners heard him proclaim:

"We cannot rest upon the help which our fellow members of the commonwealth have been and are giving so generously, and even though plans may be put forward by our friends in America to help bring prosperity back to Europe, we must stand on our own feet."

That is a realistic approach to a tough problem, but there are certain imponderables to be dealt with. One of them is the strength of Attlee's leadership, which is being questioned by some of his own followers, especially the extreme left-wingers. It's quite possible that the economic crisis may be complicated by a political imbroglio.

A sizable rift has developed over the question of nationalizing the country's great steel industry. This nationalization was on the Socialist election platform but things haven't gone well because of powerful opposition from the steel industries. The left wingers insist on carrying out the program, and the political writer of the London Daily Express says major changes in the government may result.

The next few months are going to be crucial in the battle of England (and other hard hit countries of western Europe) for economic recovery. That means this period is also going to be crucial in the struggle of the western nations to keep from being enmeshed in the red net.

Radio Comedian Headlines Final Program at Fair

The "Duke of Paducah," NBC radio star, who will be the feature entertainment attraction at the Marion County fair on the closing night, Aug. 22, is an outstanding example of the typical American humorist. His inimitable style of timing and delivering laugh lines in his soft, southern drawl has endeared him to millions of radio fans. The secret of the popularity of the "Duke of Paducah" might be attributed to his lifelong study of the humor of the American people; his original witticisms are clean, fast, clever, and invariably of the "Belly Laugh" variety.

His successful formula of refecting only the good-natured, mellow American humor has resulted in a very high average of laugh response from listeners.

Strong Party Foreseen If Labor Unions Join

By The Associated Press

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 12—The American labor movement, if it achieves unity, could develop a third political party—possibly 37,000,000 strong—President Daniel Tobin told the AFL International Brotherhood of Teamsters convention.

"For years I have been against a third party," Tobin told the opening session of the teamsters convention yesterday, "but times are changing. I may change my mind. But there is no hope for a third party until the labor movement is cemented into one."

AFL President William Green he "challenged the Republican national convention to nominate Robert A. Taft for the presidency, so we can have a clear-cut issue in 1948." He said that Taft would "suffer the worst defeat ever handed any candidate of a major party for the presidency."

Strike Plans, Pay Talks Stir Rubber Industry

By The Associated Press

AKRON, O., Aug. 12—While preparations go forward for a walkout of CIO United Rubber Workers at plants of B. F. Goodrich Co., wage talks will open Thursday in Cleveland with another of the industry's big four, Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co.

Union President L. S. Buckmaster has announced no specific figures on wage demands to be sought from Goodyear in company-wide bargaining affecting about 35,000 workers. Present hourly rates in this area average about $1.50.

Both Goodyear and U. S. Rubber have agreed to discuss wages on a company-wide basis, but Goodrich and Firestone offered to open wage negotiations of a plant-by-plant basis, declining the union's demand for company-wide bargaining.

An agreement signed by the big four and the union last March 22 provided that wage clauses could be reopened at the end of four months.

Snake Crawls Across Platform as Student Speaks on Alcoholism.

By The Associated Press

MARIETTA, O., Aug. 12—Dan Long, a Steubenville veteran, stood before a Marietta college speech class seriously discussing "alcoholism.

Suddenly students broke into a roar of laughter; much to Long's confusion until he discovered the cause.

A five-inch snake had wriggled across the floor to his feet. Apparently it had emerged from a drain in the basement class room.

Pullman Employes Offer Suggestions

By International News Service

CHICAGO—The men who help thousands of travelers get to conferences have been holding conferences of their own.

They are conductors and porters who work for the Pullman company.

Their conferences are designed to give them a chance to talk over their ideas for making travel more comfortable and gracious.

The Pullman company says that 11,700 of its conductors and porters have participated in 1,117 get-togethers in 57 cities.

Out of these conferences have come 7,000 suggestions for improving the company's service.

Among the topics discussed in the "seminars" are train make-up—for instance, the location of the dining car in relation to the sleepers and coaches on specific trains—station conditions which might inconvenience passengers, suggestions for improving appliances on cars, ideas on cleaning and maintaining car, and working conditions.

And the company has tangible proof that the conferences have paid off in better service to its patrons.

J. P. Leach, assistant vice president in charge of car service, says a steady increase in written commendations from patrons concerning employes has been noted following these conferences.

Airliner Forced Down By Flock of Geese

By The Associated Press

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 12 — A National Airlines Skymaster with 25 passengers and crew members aboard made an emergency landing at Southwest airport early today after running into a flock of geese on takeoff.

Airport officials said the DC-4, piloted by Capt. Herschel Clark, encountered the geese a few seconds after leaving the field on a scheduled flight to Newark, N. J.

Clark reported at least five geese struck the big plane, one making a hole large enough to stick your head in" in the leading edge of the wing and another striking the giant rudder.

The 22 passengers, unaware of what had happened until after they landed, were placed on later flights.

Negotiations in Strike Affecting Ford Stall

By The Associated Press

DETROIT, Aug. 12 — About 32,000 of the Ford Motor Co. employes laid off last week by a materials shortage were called back to their jobs today, but negotiators in the Murray Corp. of America strike that idled them appeared far from a settlement.

Talks in the three-week Murray walkout, which has led to the layoff of 65,000 auto workers, were halted until Wednesday after company President Clarence W. Avery accused the CIO United Auto Workers of stalling a settlement with their demand for blanket protection against the Taft-Hartley act.

Blind Nebraskan, Mail-Order Ada Bride Happy Despite Difference on Red, Blue

By The United Press

McCOOK, Neb., Aug. 12—Blind Sam O'Connor was happy on his honeymoon today, even though his mail-order bride wore blue at the wedding instead of red.

The couple didn't go anywhere for their honeymoon. O'Connor had to get back to the street corner where he has played his fiddle for many years. But his bride visited him for a while and they held hands while people gave them their best wishes.

O'Connor, 67, had wanted his bride to wear the same red velvet and chiffon dress she wore when they took out their license at the Red Willow county courthouse last Saturday.

But the bride, 50-year-old Dorothy Alice Jean Jerusha of Ada, O., knew better.

"Get married in red, wish you were dead; get married in blue, always be true," she quoted.

O'Connor let it go at that. It didn't make much difference anyway, because he couldn't see the woman he met through a romance-by-correspondence club.

Almost all of the county workers turned out for the wedding ceremony conducted yesterday by County Judge L. H. Cheyney. They laughed at the lipstick on O'Connor's face after the couple's wedding kiss.

Afterwards the couple promenaded down Main street arm-in-arm, O'Connor waving the marriage license and his bride carrying a big box of cigars for the charivari which almost everybody in McCook attended last night.

No alcoholic liquors were served at the party. O'Connor and his wife don't believe in drinking. But there was plenty of soda pop and Mrs. O'Connor passed out the cigars.

Everybody said it was one of the nicest wedding parties held here in a long time.

Industrious

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO—A rookie policeman was sent over to Wrigley Field, home of the Chicago Cubs, and kept himself busy directing traffic at an intersection near the baseball park.

"What are you doing here?" demanded the sergeant in charge. "You were assigned to the box office."

"Yeah," the new cop shouted above the traffic. "But there's nothing going on there, and I like to work."

2 Calls Answered By City Firemen

City firemen were called twice Monday afternoon. They did not have to fight fire either time.

At 3:37 p. m. they were called by Mrs. Martha Amrine of 503 Tyler street, who had been instructed to do so by her father, Ed Weaver of the same address. What he thought was a home on fire turned out to be a bonfire at the rear of 892 Mark street.

A light bulb attached to an extension cord exploded, probably from its being hit against a partition, on the second floor of the Marion Milling Co. building on North Prospect street and caused smoke, which resulted in a call for the department. There was no blaze. An employe at the mill was using the light. The call was received by firemen at 2:23 p. m.

were injured and the car in which they were riding was almost completely demolished. Donald D. Underwood, 23, of 117 East Church street was driver of the car and Max Beck, 21, of 300 West Columbia street and Miss Jane Coleman, 21, of 336 Owens street were passengers. All suffered slight abrasions and bruises and were taken to city hospital in the Boyd and Uncapher ambulance. They were treated and released.

Car Hits Barricade And Telephone Post

A car ran into a barricade in the street and blew out a tire, causing it to swerve and hit a telephone pole at 11:13 last night near 676 South Prospect, police reported. The driver, James Cusick of route 7, Marion, told police he was blinded by approaching traffic and did not see the barricade. He said he lost control of the car after the tire blew out. He was going north.

The barricade had been placed in the streets to keep heavy trucks away from a soft place in the pavement that had only recently been filled, T. S. Cathers, city engineer said. Besides the destroyed tire, the right front section of the car was damaged.

CIRCLE PRESENTS GIFT

A farewell gift was presented to Mrs. Cecelia Van Oss, who is leaving to make her home at Elyria, when Our Lady of Victory Circle No. 388, Daughters of Isabella met Monday night in Moira Hall.

Two new applications were received and plans made for an all-day rummage sale to be held at Moira Hall Sept. 27. A covered dish supper was served at 6:30 followed by the business meeting and social hour. Circle officers were in charge of arrangements. Awards in cards went to Mrs. H. H. Cooper, contract, Mrs. Robert Peabs, auction and Mrs. Daniel McDonald, euchre.

The Very Rev. William J. Spickerman V.F., pastor of St. Mary church, and Mrs. W. H. Neely of Pittsburgh were guests.

Historic House

Adena, the home of Governor Thomas Worthington, near Chillicothe, O., will be opened to the public Aug. 24, Erwin C. Zepp, director of the Ohio State Archaeological and Historical Society, announces.

Following a preview last October, Adena has been closed, but continuous research by the society has been going on and much interesting data as well as furnishings for the house have been secured.

Restoration and development of the house and grounds will be continued while the memorial remains open to the public. Thirty thousand dollars appropriated during the legislative session recently adjourned will be available late in September for this work.

The Worthington home, built in 1806-07 from plans drawn by the famous architect, Benjamin H. Latrobe, was probably the finest house in Ohio at the time of its construction. It was built of massive freestone blocks quarried near Adena, in the tradition of colonial Virginia, with simplicity of architectural design and extensive terraced gardens.

Some of the original furniture, china, and other household items belonging to Governor Worthington will now be exhibited at Adena. In addition there will be Governor Worthington's wedding coat and Mrs. Worthington's wedding dress, both costumes dating back to 1796. Other material to be seen was acquired through the efforts o fthe Adena committee of Chillicothe and the State Historical Society.

The new industry will specialize in repair service for heavy industrial motors and speed transmissions. Operations are expected to begin within a week.

BERLIN — The fact that the average German worker can't make both ends meet any longer under wage controls in effect since the Nazi era has led to loud demands for increased wages.

Trade union leaders have been pressing occupation authorities for approval of wage adjustments.

Because wages are out of line, a number of important industries, particularly building and metal working, are having constant difficulty in recruiting and holding labor.

CIO Asks Restoration Of U. S. Price Controls

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12—The CIO full employment committee today called for a special session of congress to restore price controls and said there would be another round of wage demands if living costs continue to rise.

Emil Rieve, administrative chairman of the CIO committee, said prices should be rolled back to near levels existing before the OPA was abolished.

Rieve told a news conference that "the difficulty is that everytime industry increases wages, it increases prices more."

"We are not going to stand idly by," Rieve said.

The youth, identified as John Robert Tall by A. E. Ostholthoff, FBI agent in charge at Cincinnati, was arrested at his home yesterday for alleged participation in the robbery attempt in which Peter Rabito of Biloxi was shot to death Aug. 2.

Ostholthoff said Tall was an Army Air Forces private stationed at Kesler Army field near Biloxi and was held on charges of unlawful flight to avoid prosecution.

Detroiter Admits Slaying, Dismembering His Wife

DETROIT, Aug. 12—Senior Inspector Marvin Lane of the Detroit police said early today that Harold Treaki, 30, had admitted killing Mrs. Ivy Jean Treaki, 29-year-old woman identified as his wife, and cutting her body into five pieces.

Lane said officers obtained a "verbal" statement from Treaki after 11 hours of intensive questioning in the grisly killing.

The inspector said Treaki gave no reason for his action, stating it would "look pretty crude" on paper.

Mrs. Treaki's dismembered body was found in three sections.

Army Drops Jewel Case

Calls German Gem Robbery "Family Affair" for Reich Police Action.

BERLIN, Aug. 12—U. S. investigators today tabbed the case of the missing royal jewels of Princess Hermine, late widow of Kaiser Wilhelm II, as a "dizzy merry-go-round of family intrigue and said the U. S. army was dropping the matter into the lap of German police.

"We have determined definitely that no American is involved in the disappearance of the jewels," said O. R. Carlucci, head of the army's criminal investigation division, "and therefore we have no responsibility for pursuing the case any further."

American authorities also dropped technical charges under which they were holding Fraulein Vera Herbst, 38, attractive friend of Hermine's son, Prince Ferdinand.

Ferdinand touched off the melodramatic investigation when he told authorities that 29 pieces of jewelry were missing from a priceless collection which Fraulein Herbst brought him from Hermine's home in the Soviet occupation zone last June.

A search for the missing gems produced a glittering array of jewelry concealed in the apartments of Ferdinand's friends and family, but failed to unearth any of the missing treasure.

Later Princess Caroline, sister of Ferdinand, turned over about 30 pieces of royal jewelry which she had concealed in her apartment.

The gems which Ferdinand reported stolen were taken from a parcel containing jewelry valued at $1,000,000 by authorities and at $5,000,000 by Ferdinand. Investigators said the package was one of three parcels of gems sent the prince by his mother, but was the only one he received.

C. AND O. ORDERS 1,000 COAL HOPPERS

Special to The Star

CLEVELAND, Aug. 12—The Chesapeake and Ohio Railway company today ordered an additional 1,000 seventy-ton, all-steel hopper coal cars from the American Car and Foundry company, bringing the total now on order to 4,000. C. and O. President Robert J. Bowman announced today.

The C. and O. awarded American Car a contract for 3,000 of the cars, to cost approximately $10,500,000, last April 23 in competitive bidding. The additional 1,000 cars will cost approximately $3,800,000, reflecting increased materials and labor expense.

The original order was increased in anticipation of further advances in C. and O's. coal traffic, Bowman said. Now one of the largest originating carriers of bituminous coal, the C. and O. serves 292 mines and is extending its lines to new coal fields in Wise county, Va., and Letcher county, Ky.

Delivery of the first 3,000 cars is expected to start in November and delivery of the additional 1,000 probably will start in the second quarter of 1948.

Cars, to be of welded construction with friction bearings will be built in Huntington, W. Va., to the contractor's own specifications and designs to expedite delivery.

The first railroad locomotive in Chicago arrived there in 1848—delivered by a sailing vessel.

As early as 1611 cows arrived in America for the Jamestown Colony.

"Nobody Ever Developed Ulcers Taking Naps"

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK, Aug. 12—A few tentative conclusions by the Poor Man's Philosopher:

Life can be simply wonderful only if it is wonderfully simple.

The hardest thing for most people to learn is to take it easy.

Hal Boyle

Americans tend to forget they are a form of animal life and try to live like machines. That is why so many jittery husbands and wives are wearing out anterooms of psychiatrists which they should be at home beating out their mate's brains at gin rummy.

No one over 35 should read a book more than 400 pages long unless it is the Bible or Shakespeare.

If you feel like running up a flight of stairs, ride up an escalator instead. Then when you get to the top, you will still feel like running up a flight of stairs. That's a good way to feel.

You will never be asked to build a pantry shelf if you never learn to drive a nail.

Can't Drive

I enjoy automobile trips more than anyone I ever met. The reason: I never owned a car of my own and I cannot drive one.

There are only four things in the world worth doing—making love, eating, working and playing. Overdo any one, however, and you'll find yourself as out of balance as the British budget.

You will lend less money, buy fewer needless things and make fewer enemies if you never answer a letter the day you receive it.

Richwood Fair Called Success by Officials

RICHWOOD, Aug. 12 — The 1947 Richwood Fair closed Friday night after three big days of excellent racing and three nights of good entertainment. The officers and directors who worked for weeks feel that their efforts were well appreciated by the people of the surrounding communities. The livestock and horticultural departments were all well filled. The display booths of the Union County Granges were attractive and showed much interest is being taken by grange members for the betterment of the community in which they live.

The Junior Fair proved to be one of the outstanding events this year. The 4-H club was in charge of County Agent Frank Greeneisen and Mrs. C. F. Diehl, home demonstration agent. Mr. A. V. Cochran, vocational agricultural teacher of the Claiborne-Richwood schools, and the school exhibits, in charge of Ralph Vestal, were well arranged. The midway was well filled with concessions and shows and proved to be a big attraction to both grown-ups and the children. Although the weather was very warm, this year's officers are well pleased with the large crowds present for each afternoon race card and night shows.

CIO SEEKS ELECTION OF NEW CONGRESS

By The Associated Press

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 12 — The CIO United Steelworkers union, which earlier voted to ignore the labor board setup under the Taft-Hartley labor law, now has opened a national drive to elect an "acceptable congress" to repeal the recent labor act.

Some 320 of the union's district officers and leaders met yesterday to map plans for a mass registration drive and a campaign to collect $1 voluntary contributions from the 875,000 members.

The Taft-Hartley law specifically forbids use of union funds for political purposes.

However, Philip Murray, president of both the CIO and the Steelworkers, said "there is nothing in the Taft-Hartley law which prevents voluntary contributions."

Murray said the CIO hope to enlist 1,000,000 members to carry on the "most intensive election campaign in history."

The CIO, the labor leader declared, "would welcome" a test of curbs on labor organizations' political activities under the Taft-Hartley labor law. Murray said Attorney General Tom Clark has been advised by the CIO and Steelworkers of two instances in which the CIO has engaged in active support of candidates since the law was passed in June.

The constitutionality of the act on the political grounds, he explained, would be questioned under the premise of free speech and expression.

Murray said the CIO does not intend to start a third party or to support solely the Democrat party. He said candidates will be given political action committee support only if they are favorable to the views expressed by the CIO.

Cleanup Planned By Bethlehem Grange

Plans were made at a recent meeting of Bethlehem grange to observe "Grange Day" by staging a cleanup of both the hall and the Grange yard. Announcement was made by Mrs. Lowell Berringer, home economics chairman, that the national dress contest would be held at the next meeting on Aug. 13. At that time all past masters of the grange will be honored.

Hershel Hecker, soil specialist in Morrow county and a member of the Grange, gave a lecture on "Soil Conservation," illustrating the talk with pictures, mostly of Marion county farms. Mrs. Robert Howald was in charge of the program.

Refreshment committee appointed to serve at the next meeting includes Mr. and Mrs. William Clunk, Miss Mary Mahaffey and Miss Louise Augenstein.

"She said it was driving her crazy!"

• Here you see a squeak in the process of being exterminated . . .
You know, it's a funny thing the way a squeak will "telegraph" around—you think you've found it and then you find you haven't. But I found this baby—right on that little strip of rubber where the hood comes down. And I fixed it for good.
Of course, catching squeaks and squelching them is just one of the things that goes along with a thorough lubrication job. And, by the way, now is the time to have this done to your car—before your summer driving. To save you time—make a date for a lubrication job now.

MUSKINGUM WATER SUPPLIES ASSURED

By The Associated Press

MCCONNELSVILLE, O., Aug 12—Water supplies for Malta and McConnelsville were assured today, George Archer, McConnelsville water works board chairman, told the cities' residents who look to once-broken Muskingum River dam No. 7 for their water

A second break in the dam, which appeared imminent, greatly impair water supplies to the two cities, which face salt water across the Muskingum by lowering the water table from which their wells draw.

A 35-foot section crumbled out of the dam, June 26, lowering the water table enough to cause concern

A mobile army purification system, an officer and 10 soldiers were flown to the scene last week and asked to remain two months by O C Carter, Ohio department of health district inspector

Archer reported that reserves for both cities were completely filled.

Mayors Alonzo Hanson of McConnelsville and M D Martin of Malta, proclaimed a state of emergency and asked their citizens to use water sparingly

Council Adopts Reduced City Budget; New Members Named

[illegible]uncil Monday night named a new Fifth ward councilman to fill the vacancy left by the resignation of Edward Ruzzo, new municipal court judge, and adopted the 1948 city budget. It was a meeting session attended by several delegations, including city [illegible] department employes seeking a wage increase.

Following acceptance of the resignation of Judge Ruzzo, who, [illegible] president William G. Slack [illegible] pointed out had served "conscientiously and cooperatively," council unanimously named Vincent B. Clement of 507 South Main street to fill the Fifth ward vacancy. Mr. Clement's name was named before council by councilman-at-large Malcolm Severns.

Mr. Clement, 34 years old, is a [illegible]ber, a home owner and resident of Marion the last 10 years. He was a resident of Hardin [illegible] prior to coming to Marion. He served last year as president of the Marion County Republican club. He is married and has two children.

Budget Figures

The city budget adopted for [illegible] lists estimated receipts of $[illegible],104 against estimated expenditures of $749,820. This compares with $795,509 and $785,386 for the current year. The budget was read by city auditor Elmer Shaw.

General and classified property tax receipts were estimated at $[illegible] for 1948 against $160,940 for 1947. A hike in anticipated sales and intangible tax receipts from an estimated $80,000 to $92,[illegible] in 1948 is shown.

Factors contributing to the slightly lower municipal budget include an estimated hospital appropriation of $325,000 for 1948 against the $370,000 listed for the current year. The drop was explained in the fact that additional equipment and improvements at the hospital were being underwritten this year.

Also lower for next year is the fire department appropriation of $96,000 as compared to $107,455 for 1947. The drop is due to the expense this year of buying new apparatus, the auditor explained.

The police appropriation for 1948 amounting to $71,450 compares with $69,860 for 1947. Also increasing is the board of health appropriation, which for 1948 is listed to total $17,600 against $8,700 for 1947.

Object to Liquor Sale

A delegation numbering more than a dozen appeared before council seeking action to prohibit the sale of liquor at a restaurant and grill now being erected at 747 Bennett street. The delegation submitted a petition to council bearing 500 signatures of residents in the vicinity opposing the proposed sale of liquor at that location.

William Osterholt, speaking for the delegation, pointed out that the restaurant which proposes to sell liquor is not more than 500 feet from a church and within a block of another. He added that the restaurant location is close to a railroad crossing, there is no police protection in that vicinity and that there are many children in the residential area.

Third War Councilman Clarence Salter advocated council's endorsing the petition and Councilman Harold Robinson, First ward, volunteered to take the petition before the state liquor board in Columbus today to see what action could be taken to satisfy the residents of that vicinity.

Request Pay Boost

A delegation of city garbage department employes appeared before council seeking action on a wage increase. Their spokesman was Herbert S. Siens, international representative of the United Public Workers of America (CIO) who urged that the city grant a wage increase to garbage department employes "to meet the rising cost of living." Ellis Oiler of the Marion CIO council also spoke for the workers. The union leaders sought a conference with city officials to negotiate a wage increase.

Council, which in addition to adopting the budget for 1948 containing no further increase to garbage department employes, also received a report from the ways and means committee on the wage increase request. Although acknowledging the rising costs of living, the committee reported that in their opinion the city was not in a financial position at the time to grant a wage increase to garbagemen.

The following resolutions were adopted by council: authorizing city solicitor to revise estimate of cost of constructing sanitary sewer in Bennett street from Clinton street to Fies avenue and sanitary sewer in Fies avenue south to Columbia street storm water sewer; resolution authorizing city engineer to revise cost of constructing sanitary and storm water sewer in Nye street from Bennett street south to Curve street and storm water sewer in Nye street and in Glad street from Bennett to Curve street; authorizing clerk of council to advertise revised estimated assessments of the costs of sewer improvements on Bennett street and Fies avenue are on file; authorizing clerk to advertise assessments of costs of improvements on Glad and Nye streets are on file; resolution directing Mayor H. L. Dowler to file project application with the CAA for federal funds for airport construction; resolution authorizing city engineer to prepare plans, specifications and estimates for sanitary and storm water sewer construction in Fairview street from Main street east to about 450 feet east of Bryant street, in north State street from Fairview north to Hecker avenue or as far as grade permits, in Bryant from Fairview north to Hecker street or as far as grade permits.

A letter from Safety-Service Director E. O. Uncapher to the Ohio Public Service Co. was read by Council President William Slack. Mr. Uncapher expressed appreciation for company interest in beautification of the city business district shown in repainting white way light poles and steel poles supporting traffic lights. Also read by Mr. Slack was a petition from owners of lots abutting on Smith street requesting that sewer construction be deferred because they felt that assessments are too high in comparison with property values. There were 14 signers to the petition.

FLOOR COLLAPSES

BUCYRUS, Aug. 12 — A collapse of the timbers supporting the second floor of the North Robinson building being used as a community cannery, made necessary the discontinuance of the cannery this week until repairs can be made. Water pipes in the cannery and a quantity of cans were damaged by the falling timbers. Collapse of the second floor was believed to have been caused by ageing timbers rather than by heavy storage on the second floor which held only a small quantity of school supplies, cannery officials reported.

DELAWARE PASTOR IN UNION SERVICE HERE

Rev. M. C. Harrison Speaks on Blessings of Giving.

A sermon on "Words That Were Almost Lost" was given by Rev. Marion C. Harrison of the Evangelical and Reformed church at Delaware when he spoke at the union service for Marion churches Sunday night in Salem Evangelical and Reformed church. His message was based on the last phrase of verse 35, chapter 20 of the book of Acts, "It is more blessed to give than to receive."

Special music was by the choir of the host church directed by Miss Edema Koenig and accompanied by Mrs. Merwin Crandall, organist.

The Scripture lesson for the service was Acts 20:19-35, written by the Apostle Paul preluding his revival in the minds of his readers the words of Christ concerning the blessedness of "givers vs getters" which had been almost forgotten by those of the church to whom he wrote.

In his comparison of "giving" and "getting," Rev. Harrison drew as example the body of water refreshing and life-giving which dispurses its benefits widely as it receives from the streams which feed it, and the poisonous imprisoned water of the Dead sea from which no life flows out. His illustration of the selfish life was the story of a millionaire who profited from others and who gave nothing in return, for whom, when his death occurred, "not one soul grieved."

Three more Sundays remain in the union summer Sunday evening schedule of services which are sponsored by the Marion County Ministerial association.

ADOPT RESOLUTION

C. of C. Group Reports On Factory Operations

Discussion of plant operations took place in a meeting of the Manufacturers Council of the Marion Chamber of Commerce Monday noon at the Harding hotel.

E. W. Barnhart of the General Excavator Co., council chairman, conducted the meeting with 21 council members present. It was reported that factory production was occasionally tightening up in some plants as temporary shortages in essential materials were experienced. It was noted, however, by council members that the trend was toward a slight "easing up" in respect to material shortages.

J. B. Bray, president of Fairfield Engineering Co., spoke on sales and "use" taxes in connection with interstate commerce. It was announced that Congressman Frederick C. Smith would be guest speaker at the next meeting of the council.

LIONS CLUB HEARS ACCOUNT OF TOUR

Robert Maynard Tells of Conditions in South America.

Robert T. Maynard, a member of the Lion's club, was the principal speaker in the luncheon-meeting of the club yesterday noon at Hotel Harding. He reviewed his recent trip to South America as export manager for the Osgood Co. Most of his trip was made by air and he visited every South American country with the exception of Paraguay during his three-month tour.

Mr. Maynard presented a number of colored slides of pictures he had taken, showing the Andes mountains, the residents of the various countries, an Easter day religious event, and views of the rare native plant which is the source of digitalis. He stated that the people seem either very wealthy or are poverty stricken; there seems to be no middle class. Inflation is rampant and every commodity is sky-high.

While on his tour of the countries he met an American in Rio de Janeiro who had worked with Mr. Maynard's father some 15 years ago.

Cecil Gabler, who returned recently from the national Lions convention in Los Angeles, announced he would give a full report at a future meeting.

Members congratulated Edward Ruzzo recently appointed judge of probate court. One new cub, Oliver Bush, was added to the membership list. The following three transfers to the Marion club were announced: James Barry with Ohio Public Service, Jack Ehlen of Standard Oil Co. and Blaine McCoy, assistant manager of Kline's Department store.

Guests included Donald Yinger of Portsmouth, Ensgin Paul A. Schwembly of Marion and Woodrow Armstrong of Cleveland.

HOSTESS AT CLASS PICNIC

Mrs. J. A. McDowell of 473 Summit street was hostess to the Elizabeth Dairy Sunday school class of the First Presbyterian church at a picnic Monday evening in the yard at her home. The affair, at which husbands of the members were guests, honored five members whose birthdays are in August, Mrs. John Gries, Mrs. O. H. Gearhiser, Mrs. Alfred Exton, Mrs. Zula Renwick and Mrs. J. H. Andrews. A decorated birthday cake, lighted with five candles, centered the table, and the hostess presented each celebrant with a hand-made gift. Miss Marjeline Wynn of Wilmington, Del., was also a guest.

ANNIVERSARY EVENT SET

Plans were discussed for an anniversary dinner Sept. 8 when the Ladies' Auxiliary No. 277 to Roosevelt lodge No. 1281 and local No. 1039, Machinists, AFL, met Monday night in the Central Labor Union hall on East Church street. The auxiliary voted to fix a fruit basket for Mrs. Lucille Edington of 358 Milburn avenue, a member of the auxiliary who is ill. Mrs. Arditha Clifton won the sunshine drill. The next meeting will be Aug. 25 and will be a social affair.

Play of Chicago Cubs Likely To Name National Champ

By The Associated Press

If you can predict when the currently clawless Chicago Cubs will occupy the role of victims or villains, you might be able to get an idea of which team will win the National league pennant.

Charlie Grimm's second division Cubs, going nowhere themselves, nevertheless have played an important part in the fortunes of the two top contenders, the front running Brooklyn Dodgers and the runner-up St. Louis Cardinals.

It was the Cubs' early season ineptness against Brooklyn that was largely responsible for the Dodgers' lofty position. In their 15 clashes, the Brooks emerged the victors 13 times. At the same time, it was the Bruins' early season mastery over the Cards that had a hand in keeping the Redbirds buried in the league cellar for nearly two months. In their first 10 clashes, the Cubs came out on top seven times.

Go Into Tailspin

On Aug. 1, the Dodgers, flying high on the wings of a 10-game lead over the Cards, rode into Chicago expecting to fatten their lead still more at the expense of the Cubs. But the Bruins knocked off the Brooks three times in a row to send the Dodgers into a tailspin which saw them drop seven of their next 10 games.

But when St. Louis—the same Cards who had fallen seven times in 10 tussles with them—showed up, the Cubs just as suddenly lost their bite and succumbed meekly eight straight times, the latest being last night when they bowed 3-1 to the southpaw slants of Harry (The Cat) Brecheen).

Brecheen's victory enabled the Redbirds to reduce the idle Dodgers' lead to three games.

Each Have Four Games

Brooklyn's margin over the Cubs is now 13-5 while the Cards have an 11-7 edge over Chicago. Each contender has four games left to play with the Cubs.

Bucky Walters, Cincinnati righthander, twirled a neat eight-hit 8-3 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Dave Koslo handcuffed the Phillies 3-0 on five hits in a night game in Philadelphia.

The Boston Red Sox moved within 11½ games of the New York Yankees in the American league pennant race by winning a 1-0 thriller from Washington in Boston while the Philadelphia Athletics were taking a 3-2 decision from the league leaders.

Virgil Trucks limited the Cleveland Indians to nine hits as the Detroit Tigers won 3-1 in Cleveland.

The Chicago White Sox and St. Louis Browns divided a doubleheader in Chicago. The Sox won the opener 5-2 but the Browns bounced back to win the second game 8-4.

Brooklyn and the Boston Braves were not scheduled.

SMITTY'S KNOCKED OUT OF TOURNAMENT BY MANSFIELD CLUB

Gorman-Rupp Whips Locals, 5-1; Ashland Beats '46 Champs.

Special to The Star

MT. VERNON, Aug. 12—The sixth district was assured of a new softball champion last night as over 4,000 fans turned out for semi-finals at Riverside park.

Ashland Indians and Gorman-Rupp of Mansfield moved up with victories over Barnes of Mansfield and Smitty's All-Stars of Marion.

Bob Regula of Gorman-Rupp allowed Smitty's only three hits and one run while his mates were picking up five runs on six hits. Only their fourth inning materialized for Smitty's. Reid, who had singled in the second, drew a walk, went to second on a passed ball and scored on R. Culver's single, after Hart had popper out.

Errors helped the Mansfielders pick up runs in the second and fifth innings.

In the second an error in right field allowed men to second and third and next-up, McCarrick, singled, scoring both. In the fifth on a run scored on a passed ball and Regula came in with the final score. Regula is a brother to Jim who was with Marion Cubs as a pitcher early this season.

It was the third straight year that a Mansfield club has eliminated Smitty's from the tourney. In 1945 Westinghouse beat them in the finals, last year Barnes took them in semi-finals, and now it was Gorman-Rupp. Prior to the tourney Smitty's had beaten Gorman-Rupp twice, losing to them once.

Barnes, defending champ, was nipped by Ashland Indians, 3-1. Their pitcher, Winebrenner, got out of a hospital bed to work the game. Although his stuff wasn't up to his usual par, he twirled in good form.

The championship game Wednesday will start at 9 p. m. A preliminary will open the program at 7.

Feller Announces Plans To Pitch 5 Cuban Loop Tilts

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, O., Aug. 12—The Cuban league's winter season appeared today to be in for a 30-day boost from U. S. baseball, with a five-game appearance by Bob Feller a feature of the month.

Feller announced he would wind up a 10-game barnstorming tour of the states on Oct. 19, and between Oct. 21 and Nov. 8 would hurl five times for the Almendares team of the Cuban league. Almendares will be managed by catcher Mike Guerra of the Athletics.

His announcement brought a disclosure by Rudy Schaffer, business manager of the Indians, that after the Cuban league was admitted to the National Association of Professional Baseball leagues (the minors) the association arranged for the Cubans a special concession "for the purpose of helping them get established."

Players from U. S. teams may play on Cuban teams — which start their schedule Oct. 9 — under the provisions of the post-season rule promulgated by Baseball Commissioner A. B. (Happy) Chandler. This allows them 30 days of post-season barnstorming, beginning Oct. 8.

Feller has not yet completed his U. S. barnstorming team, but said three Indians who were on his squad last year would repeat—catcher Jim Hegan, third baseman Ken Keltner, and pitcher Bob Lemon.

Abe Simon, who sustained two knockouts at the hands of Joe Louis, is now a licensed New York state boxing referee.

Jitts Lawrence Picked To Hurl Against Bums in Tonight's Tilt

By DON C. BURTON

The Cubs continued their one big inning offense at Lincoln park last night and took the opening game of the series from the Zanesville Dodgers, 7-4.

The two teams play again tonight. Jitts Lawrence is slated to start for the Cubs. Manager Clay Bryant's mound selection was unannounced.

Coming to bat in the eighth round behind in the score by 4-3, last night, the locals put across four runs and sent 1,975 fans home happy.

Cy Lambert, Zanesville southpaw, was on his way to his eighteenth victory but the Cubs touched him for 11 hits, five of which were for extra bases and his mates committed four errors and he received his seventh loss instead.

Smith Gets Victory

Jim Sabens hurled credible ball until relieved in the eighth with two on base and two out with the count two ball on the next batter. Frank Smith took over for Sabens and struck out the batter on which Jim had two balls and received credit for the big eighth frame and his fourth win against the same number of defeats.

Marion grabbed a run in the first inning on a triple by Hollingshead and a single by John Smith. Zanesville took the lead in the second stanza with two runs on three walks, two hits and two errors. Gene Bobzean died on third after tripling to start the second for Marion.

The Dodgers got a single run in the fourth on a walk, single and outfield fly by Morris Mikesell. The league leaders made it 4-1 with a run in the sixth. Potpinka got to second on an error by Bobzean, moved to third on a single by Santo Luberto and scored on a double by Mikesell.

Get 2 Runs Back

The Cubs got two of the runs back in the sixth. Manager Burbrink hit a smash off the first baseman's glove good for two bases and when Lambert took Maxhimer's smash and tried to get the Marion manager off second both were safe, although the Zanesville team disagreed with the decision. The bases were filled and none out when Bob Shuford walked. With Gene Bobzean at bat one of Lambert's pitches went wild but catcher Ray Dabek recovered and threw back to the plate, but Lambert, covering, dropped the ball.

Maxhimer also tried to score after the ball went toward the dugout but was out at the plate. After Bobzean struck out Jim Forbes doubled to score Shuford.

In the big Marion eighth Lambert walked Bobzean with one out and his trouble started. Forbes singled to center to send Bobzean to third and took second on the throwin to third. After Frank Smith grounded out, Hollingshead walked to load the bases. John Smith grounded to Mikesell, who kicked the ball around, and two runs scored with Hollingshead going to third.

After John Smith stole second Mel Nelson singled for two more runs. Manager Burbrink singled but Maxhimer forced him.

Several great fielding plays as well as 10 errors showed the two teams were keyed up for the series. In the first inning, John Smith went far back into foul territory and took a fly from Dabek catching the ball with his back to the infield on the dead run. Roy Hollingshead soured Zanesville hopes with a leaping catch of Dill's liner in the ninth. Jim Forbes made a good catch of a foul in the opening inning from the bat of Mikesell. Bob Shuford went back to the fence and to his right to pull down a fly by Belcastro with two out and men on in the third.

Lambert looked unbeatable in the second, third and fourth innings. After allowing a triple by Bobzean to start the second he struck out the side. He retired two men in the third on strikes and struck out the side in the fourth making seven whiffs out of eight batters.

Cy Lambert has the most wins in the league with 17. Last night he never threw a curve ball all night. He kept the ball high and inside to the Cubs. A jerky motion seems to be his biggest asset.

Underdogs Shine In OSL Schedule

By The Associated Press

Underdogs had a good night in the Ohio State league yesterday.

Lima won 13 to 1 from Newark in a 33-hit affair. Second-place Marion knocked over the leading Zanesville Dodgers, 7-4, and Richmond staged a ninth inning rally as Dayton went down 11-10.

Muncie put on a one-sided marathon, rolling over Springfield 14-0 while Ed Post held the Giants to five hits. The packers were the only club to beat a lower ranking team in the league last night.

There were plenty of runs for everybody in the Newark-Lima and Richmond-Dayton games.

Jack Maisch drove in five Lima runs with four hits, and his eighth inning single with the bases loaded started a five run rally for the Terriers.

Manager Rex Carr of the Richmond Roses stepped in as a pinch-hitter in the eighth inning and drove home two runs against Dayton. As a pitcher, he permitted one score, but at the plate in the ninth, he doubled to drive two more runs across.

New Pitcher Joins Marion Club Roster

Something new has been added.

A right handed pitcher joined the Cubs last night to replace Gasper Pivorunas who was released last week. He is Nick (Sully) Alivojvodic who comes here from Clinton, Iowa, of the class C Central association. This is the team that sent Jitts Lawrence to Marion.

The new pitcher's home is in Chicago.

Fair Racing Program To Give Turf Fans Another Session of Sport.

Harness drivers clad in satin spangles will return to Marion Tuesday when many of the state's leading horses will compete for the purse money offered by the speed program of the Marion county fair which opens Sunday.

The harness racing will start Tuesday night and continue with complete cards Tuesday night, Wednesday night, Thursday afternoon, Thursday night and Friday afternoon.

Seven closed stake races, with purses totaling $7,400, will feature the four-day program. Leading stake events are the two-year-old pace and two-year-old trot for $1,200 each. The other five closed events will offer a purse of $1,000 each. They are the 28 pace, 19 pace, 28 trot, 16 trot and 19 trot.

Eight overnight events with purses of $500 will fill out the five session program.

Since many of the sessions of the Little Grand Circuit races in July were cancelled because of rain, Marion racing fans will get another chance to see their favorite sport.

The races at the fair will furnish a program of three races in each event, with nine races on each day's card. Plenty of horses are booked to appear here during the week. All the stake events which closed the entry list sometime ago are well filled, Frank M. Foster, in charge of the speed program said.

A total of 80 equines are entered in the seven stakes, Foster said. Although 12 other counties beside Marion are holding fairs next week, plenty of entries in the overnight events have been assured.

Officials for the race program are as follows:

Pearl McMahon of Marysville, presiding judge; R. D. Shrive of DeGraff, associate judge and W. E. (Briggs) Mercer of Plain City, starting judge.

Photo-finish equipment will be installed to decide winners in case of close finishes.

Pari-mutuel betting booths under supervision of state racing officials will be open daily.

Legion Schedules Games With Lima and Galion

Two more games, which may be their last, have been scheduled by the Marion American Legion junior baseball team.

They will play at Lima Thursday at 5:30 p. m. and Sunday they will play Galion at McKinley park in connection with the American Legion picnic.

After this there is a possibility of the team meeting an All-Star crew from the City Junior Baseball league, but it will have to be arranged soon, as most of the Legion players start football practice a week from tomorrow.

ATHENS, Ga. — The University of Georgia is planning big things for this fellow. He's John Rauch, a junior, and Georgia Coach Wally Butts hopes he can replace All-America Charley Trippi in the backfield. He weighs 195 pounds and completed 48 out of 87 passes while spelling Charley last year. Rauch hails from Yeadon, Pa., the same state that produced his All - America predecessor.

NUMBER ONE IRISH, FOREST LAWN TAKE SOFTBALL VICTORIES

Greenwood, Epworth Enter Win Column Via Forfeit Route.

St. Mary 1 crowded into the win column against Trinity last night 8-6 in a rally-marked game. In the third inning the No. 1 club scored five runs on four hits and a walk, to step into a comfortable lead. Then the previously dormant Trinity crew got busy in the sixth and six men crossed the plate. Their margin was short-lived. St. Mary was able to add three more runs in the final of the seventh. It was sweet revenge for the Irish, as Trinity defeated them for the first round title.

In the other game last night Forest Lawn hammered out a 13-2 victory over St. Mary 2. The east side Presbies scored in every inning except the last, while No. 2 tallied scored in the second. Myers got three hits for Forest Lawn and Young got two.

Two other scheduled tilts ended in forfeit as United Brethren failed to show for Epworth and First Presbyterian wasn't around to meet Greenwood.

RECOVERY KEYNOTES SLOW STOCK TRADE

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Aug. 12—Selected steels, motors, rails and industrial specials today led the stock market on a slow-going recovery shift.

While the ticker tape loafed from the start, and many leaders did little or nothing, gains of fractions to around 2 points held a wide majority near the fourth hour.

The comeback was attributed mainly to timid short covering and quick-turn buying based on the idea the reaction of the past two weeks had served as a normal technical correction of the substantial swing from the mid-May lows.

On the upside most of the day were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Republic Steel, Chrysler, General Motors, Goodrich, Montgomery Ward, International Harvester, Douglas Aircraft, Curtiss-Wright "A," Western Union "A," American Telephone, General Electric, Kennecott, Du Pont, Allied Chemical, Paramount Pictures, Twentieth Century-Fox, Publicker, American Woolen, Continental Oil, Shell Union Oil, Santa Fe, Southern Pacific and Southern Railway.

RECORD WHEAT, GOOD CORN CROP FORESEEN

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12 — The agriculture department yesterday forecast production of this year's weather-hampered corn crop at 2,659,949,000 bushels and a record wheat crop of 1,427,747,00 bushels.

The corn estimate, based on conditions of Aug. 1, compares with 2,770,830,000 forecast in a special report for July 15 and with a July 1 figure of 2,612,809,000.

It is considerably short of last year's record corn crop of 3,287,027,000 bushels, but compares favorably with the 10-year (1936-45) average of 2,639,102,000. The government's production goal was 3,000,000,000 bushels. A crop of at least 2,850,000,000 bushels of good quality corn will be needed to maintain livestock production at present high levels.

The estimate for wheat compares with last year's crop of 1,-155,715,000, which was the largest to that time, and with the 10-year average of 890,306,000. This big crop will enable the United States to continue exporting large quantities of the grain to shortage areas abroad.

HERBERT SURPRISES G.A.R. ENCAMPMENT

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Aug. 12—Five Civil war veterans, here for the 81st national encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic, rested today after a vigorous round of handshaking at a reception in their honor last night.

More than 1,000 admirers filed past the quintet of centenarians, the youngest of whom is just an even 100 years old.

To their delight and that of a banquet crowd at the reception arranged by the National Women's Relief Corps auxiliary, Gov. Thomas J. Herbert made a surprise appearance, was seated at the speakers' table and spoke briefly.

The Ohio executive was on the convention schedule for an address at the semi-official meeting tonight.

His unheralded arrival last night caused such a flurry he was introduced as "the governor of Indiana." His amusement was shared by John C. Adams, quartermaster general of the G.A.R., who is here from Jonesboro, Ind., and who knows better.

The several organizations affiliated with the G.A.R. went into business sessions today but the veterans themselves were looking it over with the interest and eagerness of newcomers.

Grand Rapids, Mich., was the first city to bid for the 1948 encampment, but the decision will not be announced until Thursday. There will be an announcement about [illegible] at the convention, and there will be [illegible] and the election of officers.

LOVE'S PERILOUS PATH

By ADELE GARRISON

I THINK, for an instant, Philip Veritzen was tempted to tell me in no uncertain terms that I was taking an unwarrantable liberty with him by putting my question to him concerning Noel and Mary.

Then I could almost see sweeping over him the realization of the care I had been giving Mary, and he donned again his mantle of flamboyant courtliness.

"I hope you know, my dear," he said, "that there is nothing which you cannot ask me. No, my son did not tell me in so many words that Mary refused motherhood. But I was expressing to him one day my natural desire for grandchildren before I became too old to enjoy them, and he became so confused, and so vague, that I made up my mind Mary did not want children and that Noel was too loyal to say so."

I thought to myself that Noel must have inherited that delicacy of feeling from his long-dead, gentle little mother. He certainly did not get it from his father.

Then I put another direct question.

"Did you get any impression from him as to her reason for not wishing a child?"

He gave me a surprised look.

"No, but naturally I could think of but one—that Mary was afraid a child would interfere with her acting career.

Pure Nonsense

"But of course," he went on swiftly, "that reason is pure nonsense. Look at the distinguished actresses who have reared lovely children! However, that is all water over the bridge now. Now I can understand Mary's feeling. Her loss of memory must have intensified a feeling that had been latent in her for a long time."

The irritation I felt at his obtuseness got the better of me.

"You are mistaken on both of those points, Phil," I said. "Mary had no thought of inherited insanity until her loss of memory brought it to her mind. I would stake my life on that. And I would wager a great deal that Mary's career has nothing to do with her decision against motherhood."

His eyes were bewildered now.

"Then what—" he began uncertainly, but I interrupted with another question.

"Can you think of nothing in your own family history, Phil, which might make Mary hesitate before deciding upon motherhood?"

That he understood me, I knew instantly from his eyes, which held not only comprehension but such poignant anguish that for an instant I was sorry I had brought up the point. But I steeled my heart with the knowledge that I must do battle for Mary, and waited quietly for his answer.

Far Back in Past

"I must take you far back into the past to give you your answer to that question," he said. "Noel's gentle mother was afraid of motherhood because she feared a child might inherit the rages that are the inheritance of the royal family of Transvania.

"Not that I ever made her the object of one of them," he went on hastily. "She was so sweet, so gentle, so childlike, and I felt such compunction that I could not give her the kind of love I had given Olga—and still give Olga in our reunited years—that I would have died rather than vent one of those rages upon anyone so defenseless.

"But," he went on, "she had seen me in them, with other people the object, and she feared a child of mine would inherit them.

"She died before Noel grew old enough to have them," he said, "but—do you—can you mean that dread of those inherited rages has been the reason for Mary's fear of motherhood?"

"Mary never told me." I said steadily, "but I am very sure that was the reason for her not wishing children. But—Phil, may I be very frank with you? I do not wish to incur your enmity, but there is something I must tell you."

"I told you before that you could tell me anything," he said.

"Then," I said, summoning every ounce of courage I possessed, "do you not realize that those royal rages are not really an inheritance, but an unconscious building-up of something which you have believed has proven your right and Noel's to belong to the royal family of Transvania?"
